VOL 69 NO. 70 — VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1926—20 PAGES — PRICE FIVE CENTS

LUMBER INDUSTRY ASKS CABINET TO HALT WAGE RULING

Cannot Pay Forty Cents as Ordered by Board, Government Told

Ruling Would Result in Unemployment Next Winter, Big Delegation Warns

British Columbia's lumber industry cannot afford to pay a minimum wage of forty cents an hour as proposed by the board administering this Province's minimum wage law, the Provincial Government was told to-day by a large and representative delegation of lumbermen.

At a private meeting with the Cabinet the lumbermen's delegation voiced vigorous objections to the administrative board's ruling in favor of a forty-cent scale to go into effect on November 1. This plan, it was stated, would seriously affect the operations of many mills and cause them to lengthen their usual mid-Winter shut-down to a long period. Employees thus would suffer instead of gaining by the ruling, it was asserted.

PROPOSE COMPROMISE

Exhaustive data to prove these contentions were laid before Premier Oliver and his Ministers. It was proposed by some of the lumbermen present that the forty-cent scale be cut to a thirty-five cent figure for the Winter months and that the higher rate go into effect in the Spring when business in the industry is more active. The Government was warned that if the higher rate were enforced during the Winter many employees of lumber firms would be idle to swell the usual numbers of unemployed in business generally at that time of the year.

INTERIOR MILLS AFFECTED

The delegation represented the lumber industry of the Coast generally and it produced telegrams from interior lumbermen supporting its views.

J. O. Cameron of Victoria, Aird Flavelle of Port Moody, John Hendry of Vancouver and Eric Humbird of Chemainus, headed the delegation and addressed the Government, which promised consideration of these representations.

COLD WAVE SPREADS OVER THE PRAIRIES

Untimely Change in Weather May Cause Farmers Big Grain Loss

Winnipeg, Sept. 24.—Snow, rain and sleet, which have prevailed throughout the prairie region for the past few days, have caused the most serious delay in harvesting the prairie grain crop in many years. Fears are generally entertained the final yield will be greatly reduced, and that millions of dollars will be lost to the farmers through deterioration of grade values.

SNOW IN MANITOBA

The cold wave that hovered over Alberta several days has now spread over the entire prairie grain belt, Manitoba having been visited by a snowstorm last night that reached blizzard proportions in some districts.

Wintry conditions are general throughout the plains region and heavy frosts are reported at several points. Alberta continued to bear the brunt of the inclement weather, Calgary and Edmonton districts experienced eighteen and twelve degrees of frost respectively.

POTATO PRICES RISE

The drop in temperature has caused some concern over the potato crop, and the forecast of continued cold resulted in a price advance of twenty cents a bushel here to-day.

Heavy damage to telephone and telegraph lines was caused by the snow and sleet that swept over Manitoba throughout last night and this morning. More than 150 poles are reported to have been levelled in the civinity of Gladstone, Neepawa, Dauphin and Roblin.

Repair crews have been rushed to those districts and communication is being rapidly restored, although some towns are still snowbound and isolated.

POWER INTERRUPTED

Winnipeg experienced a combined snow and electrical storm, and power service suffered intermittent interruption last night.

Two houses were struck by lightning, but no one was injured.

The present cold snap is here to stay for several days, but will gradually work its way eastward, according to weather officials.

Okanagan Valley Visited by Frost

Vernon, B.C., Sept. 24—The government weather station here recorded eight and one-half degrees of frost last night and it is estimated twelve degrees was experienced on low-lying land in many sections of of the Okanagan Valley. At Lumby, in the extreme north end of the valley, twenty degrees of frost was reported, but no fruit is grown in that section.

So far no damage has been reported from apple orchards.

FONCK AEROPLANE DEATHS ARE INVESTIGATED

The grand jury investigation now in progress on Long Island, in determining the causes of the deaths of Charles Clavier and Jacob Islamoff, will, it is hoped, bring to light the factors which turned the start of Rene Fonck's New-York-to-Paris Sikorsky aeroplane into a disaster. The picture above, taken while the plane was being tuned up, has just reached Victoria. The late Charles Clavier, radio operator, is shown on the left, and the late Jacob Islanoff, mechanic, on the right. Second from the left is Capt. Fonck, and next him is Lieut. L. W. Curtin of the United States naval air force, who was reserve pilot. Fonck and Curtin saved their lives by jumping.

CHINESE PROTEST

Geneva, Sept. 24.—The Chinese legation to the League of Nations made a protest to-day against the part taken by the British gunboats in the recent trouble at Wanhsien, on the Yangtse River. The protest caused something of a sensation.

Chu alleged more than 100 Chinese had been killed in the first bombardment of Wanhsien in July, and more than 1,000 in the second bombardment in August.

SETTLEMENT DESIRED

Lord Cecil said the British version was quite different. Both governments, he added, were trying for a friendly settlement of the affair, but the statement of the Chinese delegate would hardly help in bringing such a settlement.

TWO ARRESTS IN McPHERSON CASE

Man Says He Was Paid For False Story; Woman Held as Witness

San Francisco, Sept. 24.—The San Francisco Chronicle says Harry Melosh, sought for questioning in connection with the Aimee Semple McPherson case, was arrested here last night as the "Mr. Martin" in the case, along with a woman who confessed she was the mysterious "Miss X" mentioned by Mrs. Lorraine Sielaff in her kidnapping hoax confession. The woman is Mrs. Babe Daniels, twenty, of Chicago.

Mrs. Daniels, in an affidavit, asserted she was the woman who signed the affidavit claiming she and not Mrs. McPherson was the woman companion of Kenneth G. Ormiston at Carmel, while Melosh declared Mrs. McPherson had told him she had been at Carmel with her former radio operator.

Asserting he had received in all $450 from Mrs. McPherson, Melosh said a Los Angeles attorney and a nationally-known Los Angeles detective had also played prominent parts in the alleged attempt to manufacture false evidence to clear the name of Mrs. McPherson.

Melosh is held on a "John Doe Martin" warrant from Los Angeles, while Mrs. Daniels is held as a material witness.

New York Club's Ship is Missing; Ten Men Were Cruising

New York, Sept. 24.—Anxiety was expressed by members of the Buccanneer Club to-day for the safety of their club ship, the five-masted City of Beaumont. Henry K. Murphy, New York architect and member of the club, left aboard the vessel with the ship's master, Capt. Thomas Orlando Moon, and eight members of the crew.

The ship sailed from Baltimore September 12 last, bound for New York. She did not pass Cape Henry until September 17, when a storm was raging. Nothing has been heard from her since.

WHERE CHINESE ARMIES FIGHTING

The map above shows the Hankow-Wuchang region of China, where the Canton and Northern armies are battling. The Canton forces are besieging Wuchang.

Troops of the Canton Government, controlled by the Kouminchun Party, occupy Hankow. Having ejected Marshal Wu's troops a week ago, and others are endeavoring to subdue the central provinces, which he claims as his territory.

DOUBT IS CAST ON FONCK'S ABILITY

H. E. Hartney Resigned as General Manager Before Disaster Overtook Aviators

Says He Believed Fonck Wrong Man For New York-Paris Attempt

Mineola, N.Y., Sept. 24.—District-Attorney Edwards to-day made public an affidavit by Colonel H. E. Hartney, former general manager of the Argonauts Inc., backers of the disastrous Fonck New York-Paris aeroplane flight, in which he stated he had resigned from the organization because he believed Capt. Rene Fonck was incompetent to handle an aircraft of that size and load.

JURY INVESTIGATES

Great Neck, N.Y., Sept. 24.—Officials of the Argonauts Inc. and the Sikorsky Aerial Engineering Corporation were under subpoena today to appear before a grand jury investigating the crash last Tuesday of Capt. Rene Fonck's non-stop New York-Paris aeroplane and the death of two of its crew.

The grand jury is expected to determine if possible whether the accident was caused by faulty engineering or any criminal negligence on the part of the crew. Capt. Fonck and Lieut. L. W. Curtin, his United States navigator and relief pilot, may be called before the investigation closes.

Auto Went Into Ravine; Elderly Couple Killed

Visalia, Cal., Sept. 24—An elderly couple, believed to have been named Breckenridge and to have resided in Texas, were killed last night when the sedan in which they were riding left the highway on Deer Ridge, near Black Point, and plunged into a ravine.

The wrecked machine was discovered by Ord Loverin, a mountain packer. The man was dead and the woman, presumably his wife, died while first aid was being rendered.

Higher Elevator Charges Opposed

Edmonton, Sept. 24.—It being held insufficient material evidence was submitted supporting the application of a number of private grain firms operating at Vancouver for increases in the tariff of charges of public terminal elevators at that port, this application is strongly opposed, on behalf of Alberta producers in a statement sent to the Board of Grain Commissioners by the Government of Alberta.

Vancouver is to Have Apple Show

Vancouver, Sept. 24.—Having received a wire to-day from R. P. McLennan, E. S. Knowlton and J. K. Matheson, exhibition officials touring the Kootenay and Okanagan districts to the effect that opinion in the fruit-growing belt was unanimously in favor of the holding of an all-Canadian apple show in Vancouver December 8 to 11, Mayor Louis D. Taylor said he would immediately set about preparations to raise the $10,000 required for staging the show.

The growers favor restricting the show to Canadian exhibits this year and branching out as an international apple exhibition in subsequent years, stated the wire.

Drifting Gasboat Was Given Tow

Vancouver, Sept. 24—Though scores of boats entered and left Vancouver harbor, the gasboat Margaret drifted helpless with a disabled engine for two days almost at the mouth of Lions' Gate. It was finally rescued yesterday, though two of the three passengers had been taken off on Tuesday.

On that day the launch, captained by its owner, H. Doney, left for DeCoursey Island with Mrs. Collingham and her baby as pasengers. Just after emerging from Lions' Gate, the boat's engine failed and all efforts to get it started were unavailing.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS SHOW AN INCREASE

Canadian Pacific Railway Reports Gain in Prairie Movement This Week

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MEIGHEN AWAITED

Statement to Public on the Resignation of Cabinet This Afternoon or To-night

King Has Completed Formation of Liberal Cabinet; Swearing in Soon

Ottawa, Sept. 24—Premier Meighen, it is expected, will place his resignation in the hands of the Governor-General either late this afternoon or to-night.

Mr. Meighen again met members of his Cabinet this forenoon, the meeting lasting tell nearly one o'clock. The Premier afterward intimated he had no announcement to make at present, but expected to have one late this afternoon or to-night.

It is expected on Parliament Hill the new Liberal cabinet headed by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King will be sworn in to-day.

Mr. King is understood to have his cabinet slate complete.

ONE OR TWO ABSENT

First the Liberal leader will be sworn in by E. J. Lemaire, clerk of the Privy Council, in the presence of the Governor-General. Mr. King's ministers will likely take office at once. It is possible one or two may be absent, in which case they will be sworn in later.

Already the private secretaries of some of the former Liberal ministers are in the capital preparing to take over their offices again. The changes probably will be affected as quickly as they were during the early days of July, when the Conservatives took office.

GAINES APPEAL IS HEARD IN SEATTLE

Man Convicted of Having Murdered His Daughter Asks New Trial

Seattle, Sept. 24.—Before a crowded courtroom, attorneys for Wallace Cloyes Gaines, convicted August 19 of having murdered his twenty-two-year-old daughter, Sylvia Howard Gaines, began a fight for a new trial here to-day.

If Gaines' plea should be granted the entire case would be tried over. But if the new trial should be denied, Gaines would be sentenced to be hanged in the state prison between October 24 and December 23.

The attorneys argued Gaines had not been given a public trial as guaranteed by the United States constitution, and that the court had prevented a fair trial by admitting evidence of "a strange, unnatural relationship," between Gaines and his daughter.

The discussion of this subject indicates the first appointment is about to be made to this post, which was created by the Parliament of Canada while Sir Robert Borden was Premier to expedite the handling of affairs between the two countries.

Mr. Massey was associate secretary of the War Cabinet formed under the Union Government. Formerly he was president of the Massey-Harris Company of Toronto. He entered the former King Government as a Minister without portfolio just before the general election of last year, but was defeated at the polls.

WANTS STORE HALF-HOLIDAY CANCELLED

Victoria Chamber of Commerce Would Give Employees Time Off Individually

The proposal of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors that the closing of retail stores half a day a week be abolished has been brought formally to the attention of the Provincial Government through the Department of Labor.

WOULD GET HOLIDAY

In a letter to the Department, George I. Warren, secretary of the chamber, says the directors do not wish to deprive employees of their weekly half-holiday. They suggest only that the present legislation forcing stores to close half a day a week be abolished.

Instead they would allow employees to take their holidays on various days, spreading the time thus required over the entire week. In this way, it is explained, the stores could remain open all week.

Mr. Warren says the directors feel that the present compulsory half-holiday has a seriously depressing effect on business.

B.C. UNIVERSITY ENROLMENT GROWS

Students Now Registering; President Klinck Says Total Will be Close to 1,500

Vancouver, Sept. 24—University halls at Point Grey are thronged today with hundreds of students registering for courses in the various faculties.

"We expect the total enrolment this year will be close to 1,500, a considerable advance on last year," said President L. S. Klink to-day.

The total last night had exceeded 1,000.

TO HONOR HARRIS

The formal opening of the university will take place next Tuesday morning, when the faculty and students will have an opportunity of honoring Dr. J. Allan Harris, the University of British Columbia graduate who brought distinction to himself and his university by his share in the discovery at the University of Illinois of the new element, Illinium. Dr. Harris is returning to the University of British Columbia as assistant professor of chemistry.

To confer the degree of Bachelor of Arts upon Harry V. Warren, Rhodes Scholar for British Columbia, who left for Queen's College, Oxford, Thursday, a special session was held Wednesday, at which Dr. R. E. McKechnie, the chancellor, and President Klinck officiated.

DUST CAUSED DEATHS AFTER BIG HURRICANE

Asuncion, Paraguay, Sept. 24—Latest reports from Encarnacion, which on Monday night was the scene of a destructive hurricane, show many fatalities were caused by the suffocating effects of the dust which filled the air after the blow.

While definite figures as to the casualties are still unavailable, it is indicated the deathlist will stand at about 150, and the list of injured at about 300.

CHARGES AGAINST GALE DISMISSED

Vancouver Magistrate Finds Informant Has no Evidence Against Recent Candidate

Refuses to Allow Withdrawal as Method of Ending Allegation of Perjury

Vancouver, Sept. 24.—Charges of perjury laid against R. H. Gale, who ran in the recent Federal general election as a Liberal candidate in West Kootenay, were dismissed in the city police court here this morning.

Wendell Farris, K.C., appearing for Mr. Gale, who was also in court, said that although Mr. Gale had received no summons, he was in court to answer any charges against himself. Mr. Farris asked for a dismissal.

Magistrate H. C. Shaw stated that at a previous hearing he had refused this because Mr. Gale was not present to answer to the serious charges.

NO WITHDRAWAL

Frank Lyons, appearing for E. S. Rodgers, the informant, said his client had no evidence to offer and he also asked for a withdrawal.

"The charge is not going to be withdrawn. I want to clear up the matter," said Magistrate Shaw.

Mr. Lyons then asked to have the case dismissed.

"I want to know what he means by imposing on this court. It comes dangerously near to perjury," said the magistrate.

Mr. Rodgers, through Mr. Lyons, said he had acted as he did because the charges appeared to be true.

W. E. Burns asked leave to make a statement, but Mr. Farris interrupted and said they were there to deal with his client's charges, and he was not concerned with any statement at that stage of the proceedings.

"I do not want any side issues to confuse the real issue," declared Mr. Farris.

CASE DISMISSED

Mr. Lyons declared his client had no evidence to offer, and the magistrate dismissed the case.

"I think it is only fair for Mr. Burns to have the opportunity of removing, publicly, any stigma attached to himself," said the magistrate.

ANSWERED IN COURT

Mr. Burns declared a public statement had been issued through the press, but he thought he should answer it in the court. He added he and others had traced down the case as closely as possible, and in this had found prominent Liberals associated with the laying of the charges.

Mr. Burns, continuing, stated Rodgers had come to his office voluntarily, accompanied by his father. His charge that he had been sworn to secrecy was "dastardly false," he said. He added that neither he nor any of the other lawyers mentioned at a previous hearing of the case had had anything to do with the charges.

STORM DAMAGE IN MIAMI IS REPAIRED

Traces of Hurricane Rapidly Removed; Danger of Typhoid Epidemic Passes

Miami, Sept. 24.—Just a week after Miami was lashed by the worst hurricane in the history of Florida, conditions here to-day were rapidly returning to normal. The deathlist in the greater Miami district had been reduced to 105.

Save for tangled wreckage of craft along the beach and gaping holes in large buildings in the downtown district, most traces of the damage wrought by the wind and tidal wave have practically been eliminated.

Sanitation experts were not so much concerned to-day about the possibilities of a typhoid epidemic, declaring they regarded the health situation as now well in hand.

NO BLAME PLACED ON AUTO DRIVER

Verdict of Accidental Death at Inquest on Sydney R. Newton

A verdict of accidental death was returned this morning at the inquest conducted by Dr. E. C. Hart on Sydney R. Newton, who died early yesterday morning at the Jubilee Hospital as a result of an accident Wednesday afternoon at the corner of Gorge Road and Government Street, where he was struck down by an automobile driven by Edward Rand.

Mr. Rand said he was driving along Government Street and was stopped at the Gorge Road intersection by an approaching truck coming from the Gorge Road. When the truck had passed the intersection witness started his car forward again. Suddenly he became aware of Mr. Newton crossing the Government Street part of the intersection on his left. Witness swung to avoid him, but the pedestrian stopped and darted back and towards the car. Witness applied his brakes and his car was moving but slowly when Mr. Newton caught hold of his radiator and fell under the car. Witness stopped his vehicle almost immediately and sprang from his machine. Passers-by rushed towards Mr. Newton who lay on the road with his legs beneath the car. Witness backed his automobile up slightly, got out again and assisted the injured man to his feet.

It was not until Dr. Walter Bapty arrived that Mr. Newton's injuries were known to be serious. He was rushed to the Jubilee Hospital where he died early the following morning.

SUNSHINE HERE DELIGHTS HIM

MAJ.-GEN. C. S. MEWBURN

of Hamilton, Ont., director of the Mutual Life of Canada and former Cabinet Minister of Militia at Ottawa, who arrived in Victoria to-day with the financial party from the East. After the snow and cold of the prairies, he was thrilled to step off the boat into the balmy and bright Victoria atmosphere. One of the first things he did this morning was to take a motor car drive along Dallas Road to get some sunshine.

MUTUAL LIFE HEADS THRILL TO VICTORIA AFTER PRAIRIE COLD

They and Mortgage Company Officials Arrive on Annual Business Visit

A financial party, consisting of the heads of the Mutual Life of Canada and of the Huron and Erie Trust Mortgage Company and the Canada Trust Company, arrived in Victoria to-day on their annual business visit.

Members of the party are: Hume Cronyn, of London, Ont., president of the Mutual Life; R. O. McCulloch, first vice-president; C. M. Bowman, chairman of the executive committee; Major-General S. C. Mewburn, director.

The trust and mortgage company officials here besides President Cronyn are H. E. Gates, Morley Aylesworth, general manager; H. W. Givens, superintendent of Western branches, and F. B. Fetterly, chief inspector of loans and mortgages.

The members of the party have been attending the mortgage convention at Edmonton. They said that they planned to stay here over the week-end as some of them wanted to recover from the colds they had contracted on the prairies.

"We have been in the cold and snow of the prairies for the last week, and now we arrive in this wonderful climate of Victoria," members of the party said as they started out for a sunshine drive this morning with F. M. McGregor, local manager of the Mutual Life of Canada. "This is a wonderful place to come to especially after what we have been through. The only reason why more people do not come to Victoria to visit and live must be that they do not know about the place."

The outlook in the West is exceptionally good from the standpoint of mortgage investment, they said.

The party were guests at a luncheon at the Union Club, attended also by Sir Frank Barnard, R. H. B. Ker, Victoria manager of the Canada Trust, and F. M. McGregor of the Mutual Life.

MENUS FOR THE FAMILY

By SISTER MARY

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Orange juice, whole wheat cereal, thin cream, French omelet, toasted muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Peas pudding, endive salad, bran bread, baked peaches, butterscotch cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Lamb chops, new turnips in cream, baked stuffed peppers, raspberry bavarian cream, plain cake, graham bread, milk, coffee.

If the peppers are stuffed with a macaroni or rice mixture they become a sort of "two in one" dish and make the serving of potatoes unnecessary.

Gelatine desserts are tempting and easy to make. During hot weather a longer period of time must be allowed for them to stiffen than is calculated in cold weather. Full eight hours in the refrigerator or even longer must be given to a gelatine dessert or salad to insure the desirable firmness.

Raspberry Bavarian Cream

Two cups raspberries, 1 cup currants, 1 1-4 cups powdered sugar, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 1-2 tablespoons granulated gelatine, 1-2 cup cold water, few grains salt.

Scald berries and currants and rub through a sieve. Soften gelatine in cold water. Reheat fruit juice and stir in gelatine. Remove from the fire and stir until gelatine is perfectly dissolved. Let stand until cool and beginning to jelly. Then fold in cream whipped until stiff with a few grains of salt. Turn into a mold lightly brushed with olive oil and let stand until thoroughly chilled and firm. Remove from mold and serve garnished with fine berries.

Slender Body And Pointed Jaws

By AUSTIN H. CLARK

Few fishes look stranger to us than the snipe-eels with their long and slender body and their widely diverging pointed jaws.

Snipe-eels are found in all the oceans down in the cool dark depths below the sunlit surface zone. Here they swim continually about, never coming to the surface and never going to the bottom.

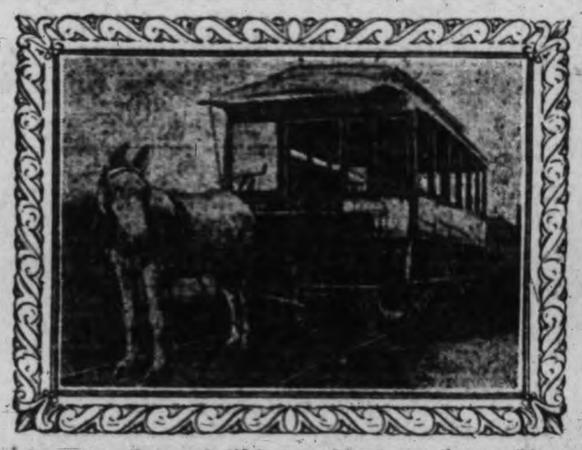
They are occasionally found floating dead or dying on the surface, but they are very rarely caught. On one occasion, when we were dredging in deep water off the coast of south Japan, we were so fortunate as to get quite a number of them. Most of them were found clinging to the netting with which their small but numerous teeth had become entangled.

The snipe-eels are all small, the one shown, which was captured in the Hawaiian Islands, being only six and three-quarter inches long. It is the only one of its kind ever found.

Their curious mouth with the widely diverging jaws, seems quite unsuited to capture anything. If they did catch anything it would seem that they would have some difficulty in swallowing it through their long and thread-like neck. Yet where they live there are undoubtedly plenty of them.

Once Upon a Time

If You Missed a Street Car, You Didn't Worry



Once upon a time, people didn't stop and laugh when they saw this one-horse power (or one-mule power) street car coming toward them. All they said was, "Well, there's the street car," or "This is a busy city. . . . that's the third car I've seen to-day."

The motorman had an easy life. He didn't have to turn a lot of levers and open automatic doors when he wanted to stop to take on a passenger. He just said "Whoa!" and his street car stopped. When the passenger was on the motorman said "Giddap!" and his car started.

If the car had been greased lately the brakes were needed going down a hill and the whip had to be used sometimes going up a hill, but outside of this there was very little a motorman had to know.

And while the cars ran less frequently than street cars do to-day, missing one wasn't necessarily so bad. You would ask someone, "Has the street car been by here lately?" Perhaps the reply would be, "Passed just a few minutes ago. You can catch it if you hurry."

Be Careful About Your Tooth Brush

In advising the public regarding the proper care of its health, Hygeia has found the necessity for special emphasis on the care of the teeth. Regardless of the vast amount of information that has been disseminated among the public in recent years, many persons continue to have teeth that are filthy with deposits of tartar, discolored with the accumulation of matter that is easily removable; loose because of unhealed infections, and, in general, a serious handicap to either social or business progress.

The tooth brush campaign has done a vast amount of good, but has not accomplished all that it might because of ignorance as to what constitutes a proper tooth brush, as to the proper methods of using a tooth brush, and similar considerations.

Dr. William N. Gardner points out that most of the tooth brushes on the market are too large for efficient brushing. The best tooth brush is small, with stiff bristles. These may be about seven rows long and three rows wide, of uneven length, and with the groups of bristles wide apart. The handle should be very heavy, and at least six inches long so as to permit it to reach the molars.

All sorts of odd shapes and distributions of bristles are manufactured, but, so far as known, it is impossible to make a brush that will conform exactly to the dental arch both inside and outside. A small tooth brush with a proper handle may therefore be manipulated to the best advantage for the purposes concerned.

A tooth brush improperly cared for may be a menace as well as a help in the care of the teeth. When a tooth brush is spoiled, unfortunately, it is not immediately thrown away, but is used until it releases so many bristles as to be distinctly uncomfortable. A new tooth brush should be put in a strong salt, cold-water solution for two hours before using. Cold water should be used to moisten the brush before using, and to rinse it thoroughly after brushing the teeth.

The brush should then be placed in a glass with the bristle end out so that the bristles will be allowed to dry for twenty-four hours before the brush is used again. People might therefore equip themselves with two brushes, one for morning and one for evening use. A tooth brush improperly used, kept moist for long periods of time, or kept in an air-tight container will quickly be destroyed, but, what is more important, becomes the place for growth for bacteria that are accumulated from within the mouth.

For this reason, manufacturers are already making available substitutes for the tooth brush in the form of cotton devices, paper devices or rubber devices that may be thrown away after use, or that may be sterilized thoroughly before and after use.

Tooth picks lacerate the gum tissue and lower the resistance to infection. Dentists, therefore, constantly recommend dental floss for the removal of food between the teeth. This is placed gently through the contact points so that it will not slip down on the gum tissue and lacerate it.

GOVERNOR SMITH ASKS RE-ELECTION

Friends Look For Another N.Y. State Term; U.S. Presidential Campaign

Washington, Sept. 24.— (Canadian Press)—All indications are that the war between the friends and enemies of Governor "Al" Smith of New York in the Democratic Party will soon be on in earnest, by way of preparation for the National Convention of 1928.

Nobody here doubts Governor Smith is going to sweep New York again this Fall. He seems sure to be chosen governor again by a heavy vote. The Republicans are worried lest he carry the senatorship with him and defeat Senator Wadsworth. But regardless of the senatorship, Governor Smith will get the governorship again and that fact will add to the enthusiasm of his admirers who want to see him nominated for President by his party in 1928.

For months the Smith lieutenants have been working in many states to pave the way for his nomination in 1928. Other Democratic aspirants have been more or less inactive.

Lately the opponents of Governor Smith have been showing signs of waking up. In Alabama recently the anti-Smith forces made a fight and won out in the nominations for the Senate and for state offices. Governor Smith may be said to have been an issue there.

CALIFORNIA PRIMARY

In California, in the primarly just held, John B. Elliott, the McAdoo candidate for the Senate, was nominated over Isadore Dockweiler, who was considered pro-Smith. Had Dockweiler won, McAdoo would have been considered out of the running for 1928 and Smith would have been greatly helped in California and the West.

In some other parts of the country the anti-Smith elements in the Democratic Party, heretofore more or less inactive, are showing signs of stirring themselves. It looks as if the fight between the Smith and anti-Smith forces would develop in earnest this Winter. In the present pre-election campaign for control of Congress, which will end with the election in November, the Democrats will hold down the Smith and anti-Smith issue as much as possible.

Not only is the Smith and anti-Smith struggle developing, but there is sure to be a powerful movement under way in the Democratic Party before many months to sidetrack both Smith and McAdoo for the presidency and compromise on some other man, such as Former Senator Pomerene of Ohio or Senator Reed of Missouri.

Quebec Village Was Swept by Fire

Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 24.—The little town of Nicolet, fifteen miles from here, was swept yesterday by a fire which destroyed the homes of sixteen families and the buildings adjoining them. There was no one injured, but a sick woman, Mrs. Dugay, had to be rescued from one of the houses.

CHANGE IN CONTROL OF LONDON WEEKLIES

London, Sept. 24.—A deal involving £3,000,000 was concluded yesterday with the exchange of contracts by which William Harnson, chairman of the Inveresk Paper Company, purchased from Sir John Ellington a controlling interest in several weekly publications. The periodicals include the Illustrated London News, The Skatch, The Sphere, The Tatler, Eve, The Drapers' Record and Men's Wear.

A new company will be formed as soon as the shareholders sanction the scheme.

ARMISTICE IS MADE IN CHINA

Hankow, Sept. 24.—The Japanese Tobo News Agency reports from Peking that General Chin Yun-Ao and General Tien Wei-Chin of Marshal Wu Pei-Fu's Northern forces have declared a suspension of warfare against the Red Canton Government, whose troops recently forced them from Hankow.

The suspension, if carried out means the virtual collapse of Wu Pei-Fu's resistance in Honan Province, where he attempted to make a stand against the advancing Cantonese, who are attempting to wrest from him the control of the central provinces.

Poland Denies War-like Moves

Warsaw, Sept. 24.—The Polish War Office stated to the Associated Press that all rumors concerning the danger of Polish aggression against Lithuania were ridiculous. All Polish regiments were in their normal territory, it was stated, and no troops had been transferred recently.

The Polish War Office statement was prompted by dispatches from Kovno, Lithuania, that the Lithunian Government had sent a memorandum to foreign governments charging military preparations by Poland constituted a menace to the peace of Europe.

Municipal Union Plan is Supported

New Westminster, Sept. 24.—"The Burrard Peninsula should be, and at some future time will be, under one central control," declared Mayor T. S. Annandale to-day when requested to give an expression of opinion regarding a proposal from the Point Grey municipality that a metropolitan county council system be inaugurated for the Burrard Peninsula and the municipalities adjoining.

Mayor Annandale said that while the time was not ripe, he was strongly in favor of such a scheme.

MANY HOUSES WERE RUINED BY HURRICANE

Washington, Sept. 24.—The hurricane which swept Southern Florida last Saturday destroyed 4,700 houses and damaged more or less seriously 9,250 more in the Miami area alone, Henry M. Baker, National Director of Red Cross Relief, has reported to headquarters here. Mr. Baker advised that his report was made after a personal survey in company with Adjutant-General Foster of the Florida National Guard.

He reported 2,000 homes destroyed in Miami and 3,000 damaged; in Ojus 400 destroyed, 500 damaged; Hollywood 1,100 and 2,000; Fort Lauderdale 1,200 and 3,000; Pompano 100 and 150. All of the 125 houses in the town of Davie were demolished.

LABOR INVESTIGATION

Washington, D.C., Sept. 24 (Canadian Press)—Harold B. Butler, deputy-director of the International Labor Office, is to sail from Europe on the liner Majestic, October 20, for a brief tour of Canada and the United States. He is particularly interested in studying something of the question of union-management co-operation, employee representation and similar schemes, and the attitude of labor on this continent towards scientific management. While on this continent Mr. Butler expects to make personal contacts with employers, labor organizations and government officials, as well as studying at first hand industrial relations and conditions in the various cities and plants he expects to visit.

LABOR DELEGATES DENOUNCE SENATE

Abolition of Second Chamber Urged by Trades Congress of Canada

House Described as Reminiscent of Days of Ox Wagons in This Country

Montreal, Sept. 24—Denunciation of the Canadian Senate as the body which ever stands in the way of the realization of labor's legislative hopes was a feature of yesterday's session of the forty-second annual convention of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, now being held here. The incoming executive was instructed to do all in its power towards the abolition of the Senate or its reform.

Delegates pointed out that it would be a difficult thing to abolish the Senate, but all felt reforms must be brought about. Miss Mary MacNab of Toronto, organizer of the Textile Workers' Union, described the Senate "as a worn out tool, reminiscent of the days of ox wagons in Canada, aged in mind and body."

FARM WORK

The Congress yesterday approved the principle that the Canadian Government should study the problem of establishing farms in Canada where city people might be trained for farm work. This system is meeting with success in Great Britain, and it was pointed out such a scheme in Canada would aid materially in solving the country's unemployment problems.

In commenting on the resolution, President Tom Moore declared it had always been labor's contention that the problem of peopling Canada was rather one of colonization than immigration.

MINIMUM WAGES

The report on minimum wages for men and women was carried yesterday. The recommendation is that the executive of the Congress work for such legislation. Several delegates, including Delegate Wilkinson of Edmonton and Delegate Davis of Prince Albert, Sask., pointed out that many who had benefited from this class of legislation had refused to aid the labor organizations. The spirit of trade unionism, said Delegate Davis, was not among the store clerks and others for whom the minimum wage laws had been secured.

The thanks of the Congress was extended to J. S. Woodsworth and A. A. Heaps, who represented Winnipeg in the late House of Commons, for assistance given labor legislation.

QUESTION OF PICKETING

"Peaceful picketing" was a subject which roused deep feeling among the delegates. The discussion was enlivened by the efforts of the left wing of the Congress to induce the executive committee to go to the extent of advising and aiding labor to continue picketing, whether or not against the law, and to ignore injunctions of courts.

The radical element fared badly, however, in the voting, though prominent in the debate. The various clauses of the report of the special committee named to deal with the matter were adopted, except for the last clause, and this was left for later debate. Delegate Buck of Toronto and Delegate John Macdonald, also of Toronto, led the fight against the recommendations of the special committee, of which Vice-President James Simpson of Toronto was chairman.

Photographers Set Up New Bureau

Seattle, Sept. 24.—The Pacific International Photographers' Association here decided to meet next year in Los Angeles, and voted $50,000 for an advertising campaign through a new bureau.

Plans were adopted for an international photographic service bureau to link portrait and commercial photographers of the West in the United States and Canada.

J. H. Gensler of Portland heads a board to create the bureau. Those with him include Kenneth McKenzie, Harry Bullen and O. Morris, in Canada.

Chemainus

Chemainus, Sept. 24.—The Guiders and Guides of the First Chemainus Company are sponsoring a project whereby water can be laid on to Chemainus cemetery. This has been a long felt want, as it is impossible to get flowers or grass to grow or to keep cut flowers fresh for any length of time. John Humbird of the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company, has promised to donate a sufficient quantity of old one-inch pipe, and Arthur Collyer of the Horseshoe Bay Inn has kindly given permission to tap his water pipe. This was all laid before the girl guide committee at their meeting Tuesday afternoon. After being fully discussed it was decided to call a public meeting for 7.30 o'clock next Monday evening, which will be held in the reading-room of the Recreation Club.

The Porter Chapter, I.O.D.E., has offered to let the guides have a stall at their sale of work, which takes place in November. This offer was accepted, and the committee donated $5 to the guides to provide materials for their stall. Those present were Mrs. Walter Porter, Mrs. Adam, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Hill. This was the first meeting to be held after the Summer holidays, and was held in St. Michael's parish room.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving, P. Smith and their son, Gordon Smith, have returned home from Seattle.

Miss Grace Ryall and Oswald Ryall of Nanaimo were guests of Col. P. T. Rivett-Carnac and Mrs. Rivett-Carnac yesterday.

Death of Man Followed Struggle With Workman

New Glasgow, N.S., Sept. 24.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death by violence of Thomas McCoull at the home of James Clow in Trenton yesterday morning, returned the following verdict:

"That the deceased, Thomas McCoull, came to his death on September 23, 1926, at Trenton, N.S., by a blow on the head received in a struggle with James Clow."

Clow returned home from his employment in the steel plant for midnight lunch and found McCoull with Mrs. Clow. An altercation followed and it is alleged Clow felled McCoull with an iron pipe and beat him to death. He then, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Clow with a tea kettle, breaking her jaw, nose and arm.

Mrs. Clow is in a critical condition.

THE STRANGE CASE OF B.C.

THE MANITOBA FREE PRESS PUBlishes a post-election editorial headed "The Strange Case of British Columbia." Our contemporary says that there are two sections of Canada which require political explanation. One is Nova Scotia and the other is this Province of ours. It finds that Nova Scotia is not very difficult to explain because "it has been in an economic pit from which it could see no escape." But "British Columbia is harder to account for." About us our Winnipeg contemporary has this to say:

"British Columbia is doing fairly well. She has great resources and her people are not in the dumps. Their outlook is entirely forward; they see big things on the horizon and are keen to move forward courageously and vigorously. Under these circumstances, why should British Columbia keep on voting for Conservative policies?

"British Columbia, being on the sea coast and having one great port developed and a second one awaiting more development, is a factor in world trade. Her own market—the home market—is not big enough for her. Her lumber and forest products, pulp, paper, etc., go and must keep on going to the markets of the world. So must her apples.

"Outside of the world market there is one other place where British Columbia has a natural market. That is in the Prairie Provinces lying east of her. The prairies are a market for British Columbia's lumber and fruits in many lines that the people on the prairie cannot produce for themselves.

"This being the case, why should British Columbia vote for a high tariff policy that will make it more difficult for her to sell her products in foreign markets and a policy that will hold back the development of the prairies? If Vancouver wishes to become a great shipping centre she will become that only through the development of foreign trade. Why does she vote to hamper that trade? British Columbia gets more benefit from the Australian trade treaty than any other Canadian province, yet on Tuesday she voted for a party that is committed to the destruction of the Australian trade treaty.

"The Prairie Provinces by their fighting and their votes have kept the Crows Nest rates in effect. As a result of these rates being in effect the Railway Commission ruled that the Crow rates on wheat and flour should apply proportionately to these products moving from the prairies to the Pacific Coast—surely a benefit to the Pacific ports. Yet British Columbia votes for a party that is committed to the destruction of the Crows Nest rates.

"British Columbia's political preferences are a mystery to the man on the prairies. British Columbia may be able to explain them after she is through explaining the other mystery of the sheep-headed sea-serpents in her inland lakes."

Surely this will be the last time that British Columbia will slap her own face. She has everything to gain by sending men to Ottawa who are pledged to policies that will assist her own development. Fortunately for her, the decision which the people of Canada as a whole made last week will insure the progress of this Province; but it stands to reason that she would have been a great deal better off with thirteen members sitting on the right of the Speaker in the House of Commons than with one.

A MENTAL PROBLEM

ALL THE EXPERTS ARE REPORTED to have picked Dempsey to beat Tunney without much trouble. The result of the fight proved that they knew no more about it than the obscure villager thousands of miles away who backed Tunney because he liked his picture better than that of Dempsey, or because Tunney fought in France and Dempsey did not. The experts based their predictions on Dempsey's record, his fine physical condition and his showing during his training. But they overloked one vital consideration, and that was Dempsey's mental condition. For three years the champion had disconnected himself from the atmosphere and routine associated with hard championship contests. He had developed new interests, domestic and otherwise. He had become a traveler. He lived much more luxuriously than the tough young fellow, inured to hardship, who downed Willard and Carpentier. He began to improve his personal appearance by getting a French beauty expert to fashion a new nose for him.

Hence a new Dempsey came into being, a comfortable, complacent, easy-going Dempsey governed by other faculties than those which dominated the tense, taut, pantherlike young man who won the championship. The experts, looking only at physical condition and reactions, would not perceive the change, but the psychologist, even if he never saw either Dempsey or Tunney, would understand the situation at once, and would expect the former champion to act precisely as he did act, to be sluggish, slack and tame. This happened also to Jeffries in an even more aggravated form when he was beaten by Johnson. It will happen to every champion in sports which call for instant and perfect co-ordination between mind and muscle who keeps away from the arena for years and thereby permits his championship faculties to become flabby. In a few words the situation yesterday was simply this: Dempsey went into the ring with a losing mentality while Tunney was dominated by a winning mentality. All the prestige and reputation which imposed so easily upon the experts and the public generally counted for little in the acid test.

MR. HINCHLIFFE STAYS

IN ONE SENSE WE ARE GLAD TO learn from Mr. Hinchliffe that there is no truth in the rumor published in The Times on Saturday that he is tired of public life and would willingly surrender his seat to Mr. Bowser. As several days elapsed between the publication of the article and the member's denial we thought there must have been some foundation for it.

Mr. Hinchliffe is an interesting and sometimes entertaining political figure who would be missed by many admirers if he retired from the Legislature. He says the only possibility of his becoming willing to surrender his place in the House lies in the event of his election "being won for him by means of padded registers of voters, or by ballot switching or by manipulation of absentee votes." In that case, he says, he would not retain his place for five minutes.

We hope Mr. Hinchliffe is not anticipating any attempt by his supporters to elect him by this means. In any event his warning note should be sufficient to discourage any such enterprise.

Obviously, this member is not going to be the means of restoring Mr. Bowser to a seat in the Legislature, but his rejoinder closes only one door. There are others.

CANADA'S BID FOR PEOPLE

From The Toronto Globe

When Mr. Richard de Brisay of The Canadian Forum wrote an article for The Spectator last June proposing to solve Canada's immigration problem and at the same time help to relieve the Mother Country of some surplus population he probably did not realize that he was raising a hornets' nest in Australia, which is extremely solicitous about the disposal of any desirable people who can be spared from the Old Land. "All that is needed," suggested Mr. de Brisay, "is the transfer of twenty-five millions of England's population to Canada in the next half-century," and The Adelaide (Australia) Register promptly and cynically recalls Dr. Johnson's remark that "Providence seldom sends any into the world with an inclination to attempt great things who have not abilities likewise to perform them."

CHANNEL SWIMMING

From The London Daily News

Something seems to have happened to the Channel these smiling days. The one fact which seems to emerge from the records so far is that it is far easier to swim the channel from the French than from the English side. It has been swum three times from the English coast (never much under twenty-two hours) and five times from the French (the swimmer never taking 17 hours to accomplish his or her task). There must be some substantial reason for so large and so steady a difference. But the actual accomplishment of the feat is evidently to some extent a matter of luck. It cannot be done at all except by a fine athlete in first-class condition, but it cannot be done then if the Channel happens to be in a bad temper.

Mushroom Useful to Nature

By ARTHUR N. PACK

A Snail usurps the toad

Here we have two inhabitants of our gardens which seem to come "out of nowhere into the here." We cannot visualize the process that makes it possible, in a few hours, for an organism so complicated as the mushroom to grow in a few hours from the plant long hidden underground.

This mycelium, or spawn, is the real plant, and that which grows up so quickly is fruit, the part which is to produce the new crop of spores which in these lowly plants take the place of seeds. This is the mission of the mushroom, to produce the spores which shall carry on the tribe of mushrooms.

Fungi, which include the mushrooms, have a definite place in the economy of nature. They assist in breaking up the solid rocks into fine particles and making available for plant food the elements which form them. Trees no longer in a healthy state are likewise assisted in the process of disintegration and thus returned to dust.

Mushrooms themselves, of course, are eagerly sought by man, and if they be well-chosen, form a delicious component of many of his favorite dishes. In their selection, however, he must use knowledge, for many species are deadly in their action.

Now mushrooms, or toadstools— for the terms are synonymous—serve other creatures than the toads that are popularly supposed to sit upon them. Here for instance is a garden snail, one of the kind which carries no visible shell, resting, or perhaps walking, for her locomotion seems not to engender fatigue, on its broad surface. If we have the patience to trace back her trail perhaps we will find the little pocket of eggs which she has left beneath the last year's leaves.

Do You Mean What You Say?

The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines

"A PERFECT BABEL"

Any confusion or uproar such as that common at fairs, carnivals, auctions, or even on the school playgrounds where play is not supervised, is commonly referred to as "a perfect babel." The word "babel" is used as a verb as well in the sense of "babeling on" about nothing in particular while the audience neither knows nor cares what is being said. The allusion is to the confusion of tongues at Babel. According to the biblical story the children of men attemped to build a tower, the famous tower of Babel, that would reach to heaven, and Jehovah, to prevent its completion, "confounded their language" so that they could not understand one another.

VETERANS JOIN HANDS TO HONOR COMRADES

U.S. and Canadian Ex-Soldiers Hold Memorial Service Sunday

Several Hundred Members of American Legion Coming

Friendship of Canadian and United States ex-service men who fought in the Great War will be strengthened by the visit on Saturday of hundreds of the members of the American Legion from Seattle.

Soldier organizations of the city have joined hands in planning for their welcome and entertainment on Saturday and Sunday.

The most pleasing and touching feature of the visit is the joint tribute to dead comrades which the soldiers of both countries will pay on Sunday afternoon at a memorial service to take place at the war memorial, Parliament Square at 2.30. The tribute which the United States veterans desire to pay their former comrades in arms will strike a chord in the hearts of the relatives of the men who bravely and uncomplainingly battled with their war disabilities or fought to recover health shattered by the strains of service long after hostilities had ceased.

Another feature of the visit which shows the open heartedness of the United States veterans is that in spite of the full programme Sunday they have expressed their desire to snatch a little time to visit the ex-service men in the local hospitals and distribute a few comforts.

Briefly the programme for the two days is as follows:

Saturday—Welcome at wharf on arrival at 12.45 p.m. by the reception committee composed of representatives of all the ex-service organizations and members of patriotic societies. Social gathering at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Feterans of France Club.

Sunday—Morning, visits to the hospitals. At 2.30, assemble at the war memorial for the memorial service, conducted by Rev. Wm. Carroll of Victoria. Programme—Hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past"; prayer; placing of wreaths on memorial by Women's Auxiliaries of American Legion and Victoria ex-service organzations; address, Rev. Wm. Carroll; silent tribute; response, Lieut.-Col. Bert C. Ross, Seattle; Last Post; National Anthem. The public are cordially invited to participate in this service.

The visitors will leave by the Seattle steamer at 4.30.

BUSINESSMEN BACK OLIVER IN FIGHT FOR LOWER RATES

Boards of Trade Endorse Premier Without Reservation on Freight Question

Ask Him to Continue Work to Get Province Justice in Transportation Costs

While the Provincial Government's fight for lower western freight rates is being hammered by Conservative politicians, nonpartizan businessmen, as represented by the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia, are solidly behind the administration in its efforts.

OPPOSE DISCRIMINATION

This is indicated by a resolution passed by the Associated Boards' convention recently and forwarded to Premier Oliver to-day. The resolution, which was carried unanimously, reads as follows:

"Be it resolved that the Associated Boards of Trade goes on record reaffirming its previous resolutions in regard to the freight rates question, and strongly supports the application now before the Board of Railway Commissioners, asking for the elimination of discriminatory freight rates at present operating against the Province of British Columbia;

APPRECIATE PROGRESS

"And further that we endorse the representations made by Mr. F. E. Burke, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, and Mr. Edward Tomlin, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association (B.C. branch), before the Railway Commissioners while recently in Vancouver, and commend the Provincial Government for its action in continuing this fight, and that the thanks of this convention be forwarded to the Honorable the Premier, Honorable John Oliver, for the satisfactory results that have already been obtained."

WILLOWS LEASE TO BE DEBATED TO-DAY

Two Groups Expected to Make Offer For Lease of Exhibition Grounds

City Council members not on the public works committee have been requested to sit in at a parley to open this afternoon with officials of the B.C. Agricultural Association and others as to the Willows grounds lease proposals.

Alternative plans will be submitted to the committee, including a new offer from independent sources. After the delegations have been heard the committee will make its report to the next session of the City Council, to be held on Monday evening.

Discussion in committee on the city manager by-law and zoning plans are proceeding and both issues are likely to come before the council in the near future.

ADVERTISEMENTS TO BE USED BY CHURCHES

New York, Sept. 24 (Canadian Press).—A commission of 100 prominent clergymen of various denominations will prepare the messages which will be used in the church advertising campaign to be conducted by the International Advertising Association next Winter and Spring.

Charles Stelzle, president of the church advertising department of the International Advertising Association, who made this announcement, says fully 1,000 advertising men who are active churchmen will help in the campaign without pay. At the request of several national religious organizations, he says, it is planned to hold an advertising conference this Fall to set up a promotional programme regarding country-wide problems.

Mr. Stelzle thinks the proclaiming of religion "is an advertising man's job." He explains that the forthcoming campaign is to be not merely a "go-to-church" movement, but that its primary object is to show the country of what religion consists. The messages to be prepared by the commission of 100 clergymen, he says, will contain the fundamental teaching of Christianity, not only with regard to personal religion, but with reference to the attitude of the church toward present-day problems

Insurance Business Problems Discussed Here by Experts From All Canada

FIRE INSURANCE TOO CARELESS, LOSSES AND RATES TOO HIGH, CONVENTION HERE IS WARNED

• Warning against fire insurance rates going too high, for fear that the public would step in and bring about some form of government regulation such has been imposed on railway rates, was given to the convention of superintendents of insurance of the Provinces of Canada in session at the Empress Hotel, by the Hon. William Moore, superintendent of insurance for Oregon.

"It is necessary that something be done to keep insurance rates from going higher," Mr. Moore said.

"Fire insurance is the oldest of all the many forms and classes of insurance. From this one would naturally expect it to be the more carefully conducted, more ably handled and more economically managed than any of the other branches of insurance. This, however, is not the case. On the other hand the fire insurance business is the most carelessly handled of any business in our country. The companies are particularly careless in the selection of agents, in the manner in which the agents are allowed to do business, and in the selection and acceptance of risks. This is largely brought about by the ever increasing scramble for volume of business by the companies themselves. The heads and managers of the companies watch the percentage of increase in volume of business written from year to year and report to the stockholders the expected increase for the next year. This greed for volume is passed on to the general agent; he in turn passes it on the special agent, and he goes out and tries to enthuse the local agents and urges them to get more business. Then he tries to find more agents.

MOST INSURANCE MEN HONEST

"We have a law regulating the appointment of agents and which requires that a qualification report shall be made out and filed with the insurance commissioner before the license is issued. This requires the applicant to give his place of residence and occupation for several years past, but usually in filling out these reports the only questions asked are how much business can you bring us and how soon can you begin to get it?

"The great majority of the agents are honest, hardworking men who want to do a good, clean, honest business. For a while they carefully follow instructions given them and do not accept any but the best risks. Then some one offers the agent a risk that is prohibited by the company he represents. It pays a high rate with a correspondingly larger commission. He refuses it and watches the man take it to one of his competitors, who accepts it. He knows that agent has the same orders about risks of that kind that he has and wonders how it happens that the other company will accept it when his will not. After this has happened a few times he decides he will try one and see what his company will do. When it is offered he writes the policy, sends in the daily report with fear and trembling, confident that it will be rejected, but it is accepted, so he tries another one and it gets by. In a short time he is looking for that kind of business because of the larger returns. He soon builds up a large business and all of the special agents are trying to place their companies with him.

"WORKING" THE AGENTS

"Often a person will go to an agent and have his property insured, giving the true value and have the insurance written for a fair amount, then go to another agent in perhaps another town and have another policy written for a like amount. This almost always starts a fire. Sometimes, of course, he loses his nerve or the fire did not burn, but in nearly every case it is a total loss. The agent in this case was acting in good faith but was imposed upon. Over-insurance is the greatest incentive there is for arson; and one-half of our fire loss is caused by set fires. I do not mean to infer that all property is over-insured. It is only the exception, but when the fire is started it is hard to tell what will burn.

"Then, after the fire, they are all anxious to settle the loss, the different companies vying with each other in an effort to be the first to settle, and often using this in their advertisements as an inducement and reason why they should be given business. This has sometimes made me wonder why the companies do not attach a draft to the policies so that after the fire it would only be necessary to detach the draft, fill in the date, take it to the bank and get the money and then mail the policy back to the company.

"This careless and indifferent manner of doing business has brought an increase in both the acquisition cost and the fire losses. This increase has more than kept pace with the increased volume of business, and has also brought a proposal to increase fire insurance rates in nearly every state in the union. The increased acquisition cost and fire loss has made it easy for the companies to show that the underwriting is done at a loss. The fire loss has more than doubled in the past ten years, in 1925 reaching the stupendous sum of $570,000,000 in the United States, or approximately $5.50 per capita for the whole United States.

"This increase is very largely due to the fact that but little attention is paid to the moral hazard, and still less to inspection of risks. I have made quite a study of this in our state and I believe that with proper attention given to the moral hazard and a system of inspections, which could be put into effect and carried out for $250,000 a year, that the fire losses in the State of Oregon would easily be reduced by at least two and one-half million dollars per year; this would make it unnecessary to raise the rates, but would make possible a large reduction in the insurance charges in the state. While it is true that there has been an underwriting loss, most of the companies show a profit, many of them being able, notwithstanding the underwriting loss, to pay large dividends, and the money to pay those dividends has been accumulated largely from insurance premiums which they have received in the past."

AUTO INSURANCE CLEAN-UP URGED ON CONVENTION

Bad Practices, Hitting Buyers of Cars, Exposed by Ontario Superintendent

Cut Rates and Rebates Given Big Firms, While Purchaser Pays All

Bad practices in the handling of automobile insurance were called to the attention of the conference of Canadian provincial insurance superintendents, in session at the Empress Hotel, by R. Leighton Foster, superindent of insurance for Ontario.

"The importance of the problem involved in wholesale automobile insurance can scarcely be over-estimated," Mr. Foster said. "I am informed that more than eighty per cent of new automobiles are now sold on the instalment plan. It is clear that if the present practice of the business deviates from the existing law, either the practice of the business must be changed or the law ought to be amended so that automobile insurance busines may be conducted in accordance with the law.

PURCHASER COUNTED OUT

"In this connection an important consideration has recently come to the attention of your committee. The practice which still exists of making the loss, if any, payable solely to the acceptance corporation is indefensible.

"Take a concrete case for example: Mr. 'A' purchases a Ford car upon the instalment plan for $800, paying $200 cash and signing a conditional sale agreement for $600, payable in ten monthly instalments. Simultaneously he pays a service charge which includes an amount necessary to cover the insurance premium and signs a written application for fire and theft coverage in the amount of $600.

Loss, if any, under the policy is payable to the acceptance corporation. The car is burned (total loss) at the end of the eighth month, when the interest of the acceptance corporation has been reduced by the payment of instalments to $120. The insurer is in the position of being able to adjust the loss with the acceptance corporation without reference to the individual purchaser whose equity in the car has reached $680.

"It is clear that the loss in such cases should always be adjusted with the purchaser although there is presumably no objection to the payment of the loss subject to all the conditions in the policy to the acceptance corporation for the account of all interests. This latter plan has been adopted by the Home Insurance Company in its contract with the Industrial Acceptance Corporation with general approval.

"Your committee recommends that legislation should be enacted if necessary in order to require that all losses should be adjusted directly with the individual purchaser of the car, and that the written application for insurance on the policy issued pursuant thereto should read accordingly.

CUT RATES UNFAIR

"Possibly the most important consideration in connection with wholesale automobile insurance is the premium rate charged by the insurer and certain related phases of the business. It is reasonably clear that there is no essential difference in physical hazard between a risk represented by a car bought for cash and a risk represented by a purchaser on the instalment plan. It is generally admitted that, the extent to which any difference in hazard exists, should be in favor of the risk represented by the car purchased for cash. The Ontario Insurance Act prohibits unfair discrimination between risks of essentially the same physical hazard in the same territorial classification. Speaking broadly, this provision would appear to prohibit charging a higher rate for a Ford car purchased for cash than for a Ford car purchased on time.

"Your committee's investigation disclosed the fact that in practically every case finance corporations had negotiated contracts with insurers calling for rates of premium at very substantial reductions (30% and 40%) from the ordinary schedule of rates required to be paid by cash purchasers of cars.

"In other words, it transpired that one and the same insurer might simultaneously insure two cars of identical age, make and type in the same territory, and charge the individual owners of the first automobile purchased wholly for cash, a premium of 40% in excess of the premium charge the second owner who had purchased the automobile on the instalment plan through an automobile finance corporation. Your committee, without hesitation, expressed the opinion that the fixing or charging by any insurer of any rate in connection with wholesale automobile insurance differing from the rate fixed or charged for risks of essentially the same physical hazard in the same territorial classification, should be regarded as a contravention of the Ontario rating law. There is evidence that most insurers have revised their business and are now charging rates of premium in accordance with their filed schedules of rates for individual cars.

PURCHASER AGAIN HIT

"In connection with the premium rate one of the problems to be noted was that whereas the finance corporation always insisted upon a wholesale rate for the insurer, the benefit of such low rate was not always passed on to the purchaser. The policies or certificates issued to the purchasers did not show the rate of premium. There is ample evidence that in many cases finance corporations charge the purchaser an arbitrary amount for insurance in excess of the premium required to be paid to the insurer and retained for their own benefit and profit the difference in the cost. In some cases this took the form of an agent's commission paid to the finance company.

REBATES HIDDEN

An important consideration whereof your committee has not yet completed its investigation, is in connection with the character of the contract between the insurer and the acceptance corporation. Frequently these contracts include provision for indemnity against loss by way of conversion of single interest, collision and other important hazards. The premium charged is generally a definite premium per car. In ordinary course it is this premium that is passed on to the purchaser and shown in the individual policy. At the same time, however, the finance corporation is insured against other hazards in which the purchaser has no interest, and for which no specific premium is charged. It is clear that a hidden profit or rebate can thus be secured by the finance corporation just as real as where the finance corporation buys its insurance at a wholesale rate and sells it to the individual purchaser at a retail rate or equivalent to a secret commission.

"In this connection it will be borne in mind that the Ontario rating law and all other statutes directed at regulation of insurance premium rates, does not contemplate a 'wholesale' or 'mass' rate in connection with any class of insurance. Insurance rates must be directly associated with the hazard involved. All risks of the same class are entitled to the same rate concessions, regardless of number or risks, volume of premium or competitive conditions. This principle has been associated with group life insurance under the Dominion Insurance Act for many years and clearly ought to be similarly applied in connection with automobile insurance.

AGENT GETS NO CHANCE

"An important consideration in connection with wholesale automobile insurance is that many of the plans presently in operation, overlook the service afforded by the licensed insurance agent. It is true that in jurisdictions where there exists a resident agency law, policies are duly counter-signed pursuant thereto by resident agents, but in practically no case does the local insurance agent negotiate the insurance with the individual purchaser and in only one case that I know of, receives any commission. These wholesale insurance contracts are usually negotiated by the finance corporation with the insurer through a prominent broker and are almost always national or international in character. The broker receives a very substantial commission. The policies or certificates are usually delivered to the purchaser by the acceptance corporation and in only one case with which I am familiar, are they delivered by the local agents of the insured. In the latter case the local agent receives a commission of five per cent. The importance of wholesale automobile insurance to the field force is immediately apparent.

"Although I have applied to this subject the name 'wholesale insurance,' it ought to be distinguished from group insurance of separate risks. I have not attempted to outline the problems of regulation which arise in connection with the insurance under a joint contract of many separate risks. I have been dealing only with the phases of wholesale insurance connected with the distribution of automobiles, in which an insurable interest remains in the distributor or vendor. Wholesale insurance where there is no single insurable interest is a separate subject with its own peculiar problems.

"I have reviewed briefly some of the more outstanding features of wholesale automobile insurance and its attendant problems. The problem is just as important and is causing just as much concern in the United States as in Canada. Your committee deems it unwise to consider the enactment of radical legislation until its investigation can be completed and until the situation is given a reasonable opportunity to stabilize itself. These seems to be a general sentiment in the United States that wholesale automobile insurance in one form or another has come to stay and must be generally recognized by the insurance business. Of course, many of the improper practices can and should be eliminated, but it seems to be the general consensus of opinion that automobile manufacturers and acceptance corporations are determined to control the fire and theft insurance upon installment-sold cars, not only in order to be able to definitely fix the sale price of their cars, but in order that the insurance protection shall be as safe, secure and uniform as possible."

PREMIUMS JUGGLED

In dealing with ratings, Mr. Foster charged low premiums were juggled by one leading Canadian company which he mentioned by name.

"It appeared from the evidence given under oath before me that in cases where the insured entrusted his business to the care of the agent or company without special inquiry as to the rate of premium to be paid, he was charged a higher rate of premium than in the case in which the insured bargained for a better rate of premium," Mr. Foster went on.

"For example, Mr. 'A' was charged $19 for the same protection which cost Mr. 'B' $7.30; and Mr. 'C' was charged $20 for the same protection which cost Mr. 'D' $10. Pursuit to the evidence so disclosed I made an order on December 2, 1925, against the company, ordering inter alia the removal of the distrimination by reducing the premiums charged for all contracts of insurance covering indicated classes of Chevrolet and McLaughlin private passenger automobiles to the lowest rate charged, and refunding to all owners of such automobiles the amount of premium charged in excess of such rate. As in the case of the previous orders, a schedule indicated the exact nature of the discrimination against which the order was directed. In my memorandum of reasons issued simultaneously with the order, I made the following comment with respect to the character of the transactions under review:

"Even mercantile business has long since abandoned this practice (the practice of charging a lower price to the purchaser who bargains than to the purchaser who pays the asked price) but in the case of insurance, the security of the insuring public introduces another element for consideration not present in the case of mercantile transactions. A long experience has demonstrated that insurance costs cannot be sufficiently determined by 'bargain and sale' methods but that in the public interest they must be measured by a different principle. Insurance rates must be both reasonable and adequate. To these essentials the Legislature has added a third, they must be non-discriminatory. If the cost of insurance is to be determined by unregulated competition and the free operation of the economic law of supply and demand, the legislative policy of the last decade must be reversed, our existing laws repealed, and the public warned that the old principle of 'caveat emptor' applies.

"Prior to the effective date of the order, viz, January 1, 1926, the company served notice of appeal to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario as contemplated by the statute.

OTHERS CHARGED DOUBLE

"All interested parties, including the Attorney-General, were represented by counsel. A public hearing was held in the city of Hamilton on March 11 and the adjourned hearing was continued in the city of Toronto on March 23 and 25, 1926. Fifteen witnesses were heard and a large amount of material was filed bearing on the matter. The evidence submitted dealt exclusively with two policies issued by the company in the name of the Tuckett Tobacco Company Limited, of Hamilton, and the comparison of the rates charged the company in these policies with those charged for the insurance of other cars of similar make, age and type in the city of Hamilton. The evidence, material and argument, led me to the following conclusions:

"1. The several cars insured under one of the two policies were not the property of the Tuckett Tobacco Company Limited, but were privately owned by individuals named in the policy who were officers or employees of the Tuckett Tobacco Company.

"2. There was a great deal of argument before me as to the consequent validity of the contract, having regard to the fact that the policy was issued in the name of the Tuckett Tobacco Company as the insured. I chose to conclude that the Tuckett Tobacco Company acted as agent for the real owners and that the contract was valid and binding, inasmuch as to conclude that the policy was invalid because of the lack of insurable interest would cast a serious reflection upon the good faith of the company.

"3. The evidence showed that other automobiles of similar makes, types and ages in Hamilton and owned by persons not connected with the Tuckett Company were insured at rates of premium more than double those charged under the Tuckett policy. I found on the facts that this discrimination was unfair discrimination within the meaning of the statute.

"4. In conclusion I found that the company had contravened the provisions of the law by charging rates which discriminated unfairly between risks of essentially the same physical hazard in the same territorial classification."

PROVINCES HOLD INSURANCE CONTROL, GARRETT DECLARES

Jurisdiction over the business of insurance and particularly in the field of insurance contracts belongs to the provinces and not to the Dominion, it was pointed out to the insurance superintendents' convention at the Empress Hotel by H. G. Garrett of Victoria. Mr. Garrett explained that a series of decisions in the courts had laid down the principles giving the provinces the jurisdiction.

"Various provisions of the Federal act have been definitely held to be ultra vires, and there is little doubt that others can safely be placed in the same category," Mr. Garrett said. "Some of these will be found in part 11 of that act, which applies only to life insurance. Provisions have been enacted, for example, section 91, which attempt to prescribe conditions for life insurance contracts; salutary provisions, but valueless, if they are not law.

"When the insurance legislation was consolidated and revised last year in British Columbia, it was deemed advisable to adopt from part 11 and include certain provisions which appeared to fall within provincial jurisdiction, and to be expedient in the interest of policyholders in the Province. Some of these provisions are of a character similar to provincial enactments for fire, automobile and other classes of insurance. Other provision of Part 11 did not need to be included, as being already covered by the uniform life insurance act, which forms part of the various provincial insurance acts.

"Whether or not the provinces should aim at uniformity in this connection is left for the conference to decide. But the conflict of legislation places the companies in a quandary, the blame for which does not rest with the provinces."

B.C. FACES HEAVY P.G.E. EXPENDITURES

Large Sums Needed to Keep Line in Condition Through Many Replacements

Engineers Find Extension to Prince George Would Cost Over $4,000,000

Unless the line is sold in the meantime, British Columbia must brace itself to spend more millions on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, commencing next year.

Facts laid before the directorate of the railway, now controlled by three leading businessmen, indicate that the cost of keeping the line in first-class condition will be enormous. These costs are necessitated by the need of replacements at many points, including the installation of new trestles and fills.

Just how much the Province must pay out next year on replacements has not been determined yet. The directors are considering now the advisability of carrying out whole replacement programme at once or spreading it over a period of years and thus making the immediate costs as low as possible. Should they decide to do the work at one time it is expected money will be provided at the next session of the Legislature by means of another P.G.E. loan.

DIRECTORS TO ADVISE

In this and all other matters the House will have the advice of the directors, who have been studying all phases of the P.G.E. problem all Summer.

The directors also are expected to advice on the proposed extension of the line to Prince George, the terminus originally proposed. This project, it has developed recently, would be costly in the extreme.

EXTENSION COSTLY

Engineers who have conducted surveys on the country north of Quesnel during the last Summer have reported that the cost of the Quesnel-Prince George link would be between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. They also report that the route originally selected for this link is the best one. It had been thought that a better route could be found but this plan is not favored by the experts.

CONSTRUCTION DIFFICULT

While railway construction north of Quesnel will be difficult on account of the character of the country and the difficulty of building a firm grade there, the original route can be made satisfactory, the engineers have found. This route includes the installation of a giant bridge over the Cottonwood Canyon. The bridge has been fabricated in Eastern Canada and is ready for shipment to Quesnel when the extension is undertaken.

Except for a few northern members there appears to be little support in the Legislature for an early extension to Prince George, chiefly because this project is not likely to improve the finances of the railway and because it would increase the taxpayers' investment in the line enormously.

TRUSTFUL ALLENE IN ROME LOOSES ALL HER TRESSES

The Barber Didn't Speak English and She Didn't Speak Enough Italian

Now Borrowed Golden Curls, Stuck on by Plaster, Cover Sad Mistake

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Rome, Italy, Sept. 24.—A great cataclysmic tragedy has occurred unto the author, gentle reader, here in the city where slumber the stogned gents of old!

All because I am not mistress of many tongues.

The tale runneth thus:

Pansy Herring Pretzel and I having gazed upon the colosseum, and seen the prisons where the martyred Christians lay, having wept at the graves of Keats and Shelley, and grown clammy in the gruesome bone-strewn labyrinths of the catacombs, decided that the time had come when the life cultural should be refreshened by that one and only spree known to womankind as a shampoo, cut and curl!

* * *

Our dark-orbed pension porter got our meaning (or seemed to) and offered to write for us in his native tongue a message to a certain "coiffeurer pour dames" which, he guaranteed, would result in our coming forth "multo bello."

He wrote. We went. We gave the note to a beaming, genuflecting hairdresser.

All unwitting of the fate about to befall me, I was prepared for the shearer, with much tissue paper and scalloped toweling tucked under my chin. The snip-snip of the shears began and continued right merrily whilst I was engrossed in my two weeks' old home newspaper.

What beheld my gentle gaze when I suddenly gazed into the mirror? None less than what once was me, but now was but half me. The other half was a bare and naked ostrich egg; in other words, my own scalp as bare of any hirsute adornment as a toadstool is bare of lace ruffles.

I howled, I wailed. I moaned and shrieked. It seems that the gracious porter had ordered that I be clipped, and clipped I was.

When Caesar gazed upon the Rubicon he could either go on or go back. So now, I could either remain half-shaven or whole-shaven. Choosing the latter, I had been taught in my childhood "when a task is once begun, never leave it till it's done." I decided that the spectacle of one semi-bald ostrich egg would shock the populace less than a hybrid object half-egg and half-nanny goat.

* * *

I purchased, to the accompaniment of my sobs, two clusters of red-gold curls, having always yearned for red hair, but never hitherto owning a shaven pate on which to hang it. The skilful hairdresser created some effective little hooks of courtplaster which he attached neatly to my ear tops to which the curls were pinned, whence they coyly wave in the breeze.

I wear my hat indoors and out. I explain that I am afraid I will be stricken by the sun's hot rays if I take it off.

They say that my tresses will soon grow out. But I have doubts. If the artist will draw a picture of a nice purple egg plant, you will see exactly how I look. The purple represents sunburn, and the untrimmed egg plant is the rest of me.

What culture a girl does get with travel!

* * *

This is just a shining example of the value of speaking many tongues. Seriously, however, if you know not one word of anything but your native speech, do not be afraid to stray from the home garden. A trip into many lands emphasizes above all other things the comparative needlessness of language. One talks with hands everywhere.

One enters a shops, points at the object desired, and the clerk writes down the price. Thank goodness for the near-universal use of the Arabic numeral.

Some few mishaps will happen. One, for instance, may get wieners when pointing to that on the menu card which looks like chicken. But then a hot dog by any other name will taste as good!

Do not scorn the little books on sale at most any book store which tell you how to ask for what you want and, how to get it in any language! And don't take the pronunciation marks too seriously! All Europe knows these little books as a mother knows her erring child!

The little Rollo abroad merely points to that line in French or Italian or Esperanto or Yiddish which says "from what end, please, does the train go?" and the same-in-every-tongue beckoning hand answers!

And the words one picks up in a week! We laugh, now, at those rank amateurs who must use the books, and we ask prices and pay our bills in native tongue like old birds!

BAKED PORK CHOPS

Four good sized lean pork chops, ½ cup uncooked rice, 1 large Spanish onion, 2 cups hot water, 2 tomatoes, 1 green pepper, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Pork tenderloin "frenched" can be used in place of the chops if preferred. One pound of tenderloin is needed. Sear chops quickly on both sides in a hot frying pan. Arrange meat, cover with a layer of onion cut in thin slices. Peel tomatoes and cut in thin slices. Arrange over onion. Remove seeds and pith from pepper and cut in thin circles. Sprinkle over tomatoes. Sprinkle salt and pepper over the whole and pour the hot water in at one side of the dish. Cover and bake three hours in a moderate oven. Remove cover for last fifteen minutes if dish is too moist. Serve from casserole.

YOUR BABY and MINE
by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

SOME TRIALS OF THE PROSPECTIVE MOTHER

One of the real crosses borne by the prospective mother is the nausea which almost invariably accompanies this condition. The nausea of the early weeks is perfectly natural, and is probably due as much to nervousness incident to this condition as anything else. Then, if one happens to be of the type who at little or no provocation vomits, one can easily see that this nervousness would lead to that.

Now we arrive at the next step. The mother is nervous about herself. She becomes nervously nauseated and then she vomits. Having vomited, the idea becomes fixed that she can't take food without vomiting. After that it becomes increasingly difficult to stimulate the idea that there is really nothing wrong with her and that she can eat without vomiting if she will only make up her mind to it.

Taking some food before arising in the morning and then lying still for fifteen or twenty minutes afterwards will settle the stomach so that she will be able to take her breakfast without any trouble. Several mornings of this ought to fix the idea that she is getting better, and from that point it is a short step until she does get better.

Eating five or six times a day, and small amounts at a time, or directly after a vomiting spell will give the mother sufficient nourishment to sustain her and "settle" the stomach. Solid food is better than liquid food as it is more difficult for the stomach muscles to eject solid food.

If there is persistent vomiting after one has taken these simple steps toward an abatement of it, then there is some more serious fault than just a mental state, which was the initial cause of the vomiting, and a habit state which made it continue.

An examination of the urine will tell the doctor many things and by means of this knowledge he can advise the corrective medicines.

Sometimes a change in the diet itself, the addition of more sweets and starches will bring about a cure. Cereals three times a day, vegetables and simple sweets; custards, bread puddings, etc., will be helpful because they furnish the body an ingredient to it at this time, and the lack of which causes nausea.

It is never amiss to remind the mother that her mental attitude is always a strong factor in her well-being. One will surely be nauseated so long as one is sure one will be, and vice versa.

W.B.A. Review—Victoria Review No. 1, W.B.A., will hold their meeting in the K. of C. Hall on September 28. After the meeting a dance and whist drive will be held. Good prizes will be given in the card drive.

SOCIAL PERSONAL WOMEN'S AFFAIRS AND CLUB NEWS

MUNICIPAL I.O.D.E. HEARS FINE REPORT OF NATONAL WORK

Mrs. A. F. Griffiths Speaker at Yesterday's Meeting at Home of Regent

Most comprehensive and interesting in its presentation of the proceedings of the National Chapter, I.O.D.E. was the report given by Mrs. Albert F. Griffiths, Provincial president, yesterday afternoon before the members of the Municipal Chapter. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, Municipal Regent, and was attended by the regents and officers of all the primary chapters, as well as by the regents of several chapters from the Saanich District.

Prior to the reading of the report Mrs. Gillespie vacated the chair in favor of Mrs. Curtis Sampson, honorary regent, to whom she presented a Colonial corsage bouquet, similar floral greeting being extended to the visiting regents.

Mrs. Griffiths enumerated in detail the proceedings of the National Chapter meeting held at St. John, prefacing it with a description of the impressive service of intercession which preceded the business sessions. She summarizes the various reports showing the splendid results being accomplished in the way of patriotic, philanthropic and educational work, and also touched upon the social side of the gathering.

SOLDIERS' GRAVES

At the close of her report Mrs. Griffiths was warmly thanked, Mrs. J. R. Hartley moving the vote of thanks and Mrs. C. P. Hill seconding it. Mrs. Andrew Wright presented Mrs. Griffiths with a bouquet of chrysanthemums and baltonia.

At the regular meeting of the Municipal Chapter which preceded the report, Miss A. B. Cooke, educational secretary, gave a resume of the educational work accomplished during the season, the success of the bursaries and scholarships awarded under the order's war memorial scheme being most gratifying. Mrs Mortimer Appleby, convener of the Soldiers' Graves Committee, stated that fourteen new graves had been completed with curbs and cement tops during the Summer, and curbstones of fifty graves had been repaired. All these are the graves of men who died as the result of injuries received in the great war.

Reports were also given by the various committees, and the announcement of that Mrs. Colin Cummins had volunteered to take the office of Echoes secretary was received with pleasure.

During the afternoon the hostess served a delicious tea, the table being centred with bowls of chrysanthemums.

MATRON OF W.C.T.U. HOME RESIGNED

Ill Health Causes Resignation of Mrs. Hoyes; Mrs. McEwan Now Matron

Vancouver, Sept. 24.—A feature of Thursday morning's session of the W.C.T.U. annual provincial convention in Chalmers Church was the report of the plan of work [illegible] from which plans and a[illegible]ts were made for the coming year. The general scheme will include the placing of temperance literature in the public libraries of the Province.

It will be required that each local union raise at least $5 to aid in the support of the provincial W.C.T.U. home in Victoria, and each union is to be asked to recognize and support the rally Sunday in October.

It was unanimously resolved that the members would do their utmost to have temperance women elected on the school boards, municipal councils and as police commissioners. It was also decided to ask the Department of Education to conduct prize essays and poster contest work in the public and high schools of the Province.

The report of the home board from the provincial W.C.T.U. home in Victoria was read, and regret was expressed at the resignation of Mrs. Hoyes, who has filled the position of matron in the home. Mrs. Hoyes is forced to resign on account of ill health, and her work has been taken over by Mrs. McEwan, a member of the board.

A party which wound up in a miscellaneous shower was given by Miss Dot Delbên and Mrs. H. Raines in honor of Mrs. Mack McConnell (nee Gladys Lord) at the home of Mrs. Annie Lord on Taunton Street. Dancing and games were enjoyed and a delicious buffet supper served, after which the opening presentation was made to Mrs. M. McConnell, who was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts, some humorous. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Raines, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. N. Lord, Mr. and Mrs. H. Brenen, the Misses Dot and Chris. Custance, Sally McConnell, Molly McConnell, Margie Lorenz, Annie Borrowman, Muriel McDonald, Ruth Gillingham and Messrs. Leslie Lord, Jack Murrant, Roland Mercer, David Shand, Clinton Lord, Travers Custance and Fred Hole. Presents and good wishes were also received from Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hourston of St. Ola, Langford, B.C., Mrs. and Mrs. D. B. Christopher, Mr. and Mrs. F. Carter, Mrs. Renouf and the Misses Ruby Renouf, Ivy Renouf, Clara Renouf, Jessie Christopher, Mildred Raines, Eleanor Hourston, Alma Hourston and Master Arthur Raines, who were unable to attend personally.

INDIANS ATTACKING THE HUDSON'S BAY FORT AT CAMOUSUN

THE diary of Mr. Roderick Finlayson—who assumed command of Fort Victoria in the year 1844, upon the death of the former factor, Mr. Ross—gives many interesting accounts of the events attendant upon the efforts of the Company to control the natives. At one time, the Indians killed some of the Company's cattle, upon which Mr. Finlayson ceased trading with them till full restitution should be made. The natives thereupon attacked the fort, with musket fire, and for a time the prospects for a settlement seemed small.

Difficulties are attendant at every stage of modern advancement, but determination always triumphs. To maintain the high standard set by 4X Products many problems are daily faced and overcome in the 4X Laboratory in the interests of our customers. Island Indians Marry in Seattle

Seattle, Sept. 24.—Ocean Jim is now Mrs. Jimmy Johnny. Yesterday, despite her forty-seven years, Miss Ocean Jim blushed deeply under her tanned Indian features as she became the bride of Jimmy Johnny, nine years her senior, a Squamish Indian.

The couple, both of Victoria, obtained a marriage license yesterday, and not, being able to write, marked sturdy "X" marks for their signatures, which were witnessed by Leo Samuel, an educated Squamish native.

Bearing their license, the Indian couple went to the Chamber of Justice of the Peace J. W. Hoard, where the nuptials were performed, after which the pair sought the first boat to Victoria for a honeymoon.

Big Ore Discovery Made Near Head of Salmon Glacier

Stewart, Sept. 23.—What is declared by oldtime miners and prospectors of the district, who have seen it, to be a discovery of first magnitude, has been made on the Outland Silver Bar property, near the head of Salmon glacier. This consists of uncovering an immense deposit of galena ore, lying between two dykes which, by actual measurement, are 125 feet apart, though whether the entire space between them is filled with the vein, cannot be determined until a tunnel has been driven and crosscuts run.

TUNNEL STARTED

The find was made well up on the mountain, and an open cut twelve feet in length put in without locating either wall of the vein. Two hundred feet down the hill from this some shots were put into the capping and the same character of ore disclosed. A tunnel has been started from this point, and it is possible that work upon it will continue throughout the Winter.

C. F. Hibbard, a prominent fur man of Seattle, who has amassed a fortune in mining, is heavily interested in the Outland Silver Bar, and upon receipt of the news of this recent strike, came up to see it. Last Fall, when this vein was unknown and before the present season's work had greatly improved, the ore showings on veins previously located, Mr. Hibbard declared himself as determined to "go the limit" on this property.

BELIEVES IT WINNER

"I seem to have a faculty for picking winners," he said, "and am satisfied that this is another one."

Pat McBride, known all over the northwest as a successful prospector and a good judge of mineral properties, says the new vein on the Outland Silver Bar is the "biggest thing" he has seen in the country.

BUMPER ENTRY FOR FAIR AT SAANICH

Over 1,500 Entries Already in For Fifty-eighth Annual Show

Fully 1,500 entries have already been received for the fifty-eighth annual fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Association, and when the fair is opened in the hall at Saanichton on Tuesday, September 28, it is anticipated that the collection of exhibits will be the largest in the annals of this very successful body of farmers.

Although the number of exhibits is already so large, intending exhibitors who have not yet sent in their entries may be able to do so at this late hour by applying to the secretary, Colin H. Chisholm, without delay. Every line of endeavor on a farm will be represented at the exhibition.

A particularly interesting feature this year will be in the rabbit section. This section is new, but already about 200 entries have been received. Practically every rabbit has won prizes at one or other of the big fairs, so that competition promises to be very keen. The goat section is also an innovation, and goatbreeders are taking a keen interest in it, sending some splendid entries.

The fair will be open Tuesday and Wednesday, and on the Wednesday afternoon there will be a splendid programme of sports, and the 16th Canadian Scottish Pipe Band is to render a programme.

As in previous years, the annual ball of the association will follow the fair, and will be held at the Agricultural Hall on Friday, October 1. Pitt's orchestra will furnish the music.

ENTERPRISE MARKED BUSINESS CAREER

Late S. R. Newton Was Pioneer in Paint and Varnish Industry

Sidney Robert Newton, who died at the Jubilee Hospital yesterday from injuries he received in an automobile accident Wednesday, had a long business career in Victoria, being one of the veterans of the paint and varnish manufacturing industry of the Pacific Coast.

The late Mr. Newton was born in Southsea, England, in 1876, and followed his brother William to Montreal in 1882, where a position with the Canadian Paint Company was awaiting him.

After four years of service in Montreal and Toronto, the Canada Paint Company transferred him to Victoria, where he held a number of posts in the plant operated by his company on Store Street.

Attracting the attention of the late J. W. Mellor he was engaged by that pioneer decorating concern, and after a few years justified the high opinion of his ability by arranging in 1902 the amalgamation of the firm of J. W. Mellor & Company and Robert Lettice, under the trade name of the Melrose Company. Of this amalgamation the late Mr. Newton became general manager, a post he retained until 1907.

In that years Mr. Newton associated himself with James Greer in the Newton and Greer Paint Company, and made a great success of the business until the trade depression created by the Great War.

The late Mr. Newton became interested in Victoria realty during the boom years, and was a member of many syndicates in addition to having large private ventures. In common with almost all other realty investors, he experienced the reversals of fortune created by the wartime disruption, but with firm determination started anew the successful creation of the S. R. Newton Paint Company.

He was a confirmed optimist as to the future ahead of British Columbia, and was a practical advocate of development of the natural resources of the Province.

Many years ago he took part in a plan to develop a linseed oil industry on the Lower Mainland, with oil pressing mills at Mission City, but this scheme failed to stand the competition of the entrenched British oil interests, which were at that time sending 2,500 barrels of linseed oil yearly to British Columbia.

A revival of Mr. Newton's interest in oil production took place in recent years, and he was one of the promoters of the Albion Fish Reduction and Oil Refining Company which operates a plant at Ucluelet for pilchard reduction.

The late Mr. Newton was a prominent Freemason, and in 1921 was Worshipful Master of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 49. He was a member of Columbia Royal Arch Chapter, of Western Gate Preceptory of the Knights Templars, and of Gizeh Temple, A.A. O. N.M.S.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Thomson Funeral Home, with full Masonic rites, the ceremonies being in charge of St. Andrew's Lodge, with Rev. F. H. Fatt officiating.

DEADLY SINS ARE LISTED FOR INSURANCE MEN

General Manager of Confederation Life Speaks on Regulation of Agents

"There would not appear to be any more necessity for registration of insurance salesmen than for bond salesmen, stock salesmen, or the many other salesmen who are going from door to door," C. S. MacDonald, general manager of the Confederation Life, and president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association, said in his address today before the annual conference of the Association of Superintendents of Insurance of the provinces of Canada meeting at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. MacDonald dealt with the regulation of life insurance agents in the various provinces.

"The goods which are sold by the life insurance salesmen are controlled by the insurance department," he said, "and each individual purchaser of a life insurance policy obtains full value for the money he spends. This cannot be said for most other businesses.

TO IMPROVE QUALITY

"The outstanding reasons for the registration of agents is to improve the quality of the men engaged in the business, to endeavor to prevent agents rebating, and to endeavor to prevent twisting. It has been stated that the main value of the registration system lies in the following-up of complaints and the maintenance of a list of suitable persons, so that certificate of registration shall not be granted to those, who have in the past failed to live up to their obligations as agents or brokers.

"In other words, unless registration benefits the general public, no use of the sovereign power of the legislature should be made to further merely the private ends, either of the companies or their employees."

Mr. MacDonald listed the following as crimes for which the certificate of an agent should be refused or revoked:

THE LIST

"Twisting, that is, the inducing or the intending to induce a policyholder of any company to lapse, forfeit, or surrender his insurance and to take out a policy in another company.

"Rebating, that is, allowing, giving or offering to pay or give as inducement to insure any.

"Rebating on premiums.

"Making false, misleading or deceptive statements in the soliciting of business.

"Dishonest concealment of material facts for the purpose of selling insurance.

"Conviction for any felony or fraud in or out of Canada.

"Dishonesty in connection with any previous business.

"Paying any commission to a non-registered party."

Mr. MacDonald stated as part of the committee report the system of publishing regularly the names of all agents "should result in such publicity as would wipe out the abuses, such as the appointment of agents solely because of their capacity to coerce business, or 'one-case agents.'"

With Charles Heath of Winnipeg as toastmaster, and Arthur Pitts, president of the Victoria Fire Underwriters' Association, presiding, the dinner was held at the Empress Hotel. The speakers included Alderman Cuthbert Holmes of Victoria, V. Evan Gray of Toronto, A. E. Fisher of Saskatchewan, J. B. Laidlaw, C. S. McDonald of Toronto, John Anderson of Vancouver, W. H. Burgess, Fred M. McGregor and Tom Brown, James Forman of Victoria, R. W. Shannon of Regina and Lyman Root of Montreal.

NEW ORGAN IN ROME PANTHEON

Rome, Sept. 24.—Premier Mussolini has presented a new organ to the Pantheon here, where are the tombs of Italian sovereigns as well as that of the great artist Raphael.

Hitherto the Pantheon had possessed only a movable organ, since it was feared a fixed instrument might destroy the symetry of the structure.

The Premier, however, intrusted the task of building an organ which would fit into a niche on the left side of the chair without marring the beauty of the celebrated temple to the famous Italian firm of organ builders of Tamburini.

Not even the pipes of the new organ are visible to those inside the church.

Exhibition of Silver Antiques

September 27 to October 4

All those who love beautiful craftsmanship, from bygone centuries, will be interested in the announcement that an outstanding Exhibition of Silver Antiques is to be held at Birks from September 27 to October 4.

This unique exhibition will be under the personal supervision of Robert F. Martin, Esq., now associated with our London, England, office. Mr. Martin was, for over forty years, Deputy Keeper of the Victoria and Albert Museum. During that time all purchases of antiques, made for the museum, were passed upon by Mr. Martin. It will, therefore, be apparent at once that Mr. Martin is an outstanding authority on antiques.

All the antique silver to be exhibited has been personally selected by Mr. Martin. Many of the articles will be for sale, although a number are "museum" pieces which cannot be purchased, as they belong to private collectors.

Included in this exhibition is the private collection of Old Sheffield Plate belonging to Mr. Frederick Bradbury of Sheffield, this being the first occasion on which it has left the Old Country. Mr. Bradbury is recognized as the greatest of living authorities on Sheffield Plate, and his private collection is known to be the most valuable of any outside the great museums.

A cordial invitation is extended you to see this great collection of silver antiques, and to meet Mr. Martin, during the week of September 27 to October 4.

ARMY AND NAVY ASSOCIATION TURNS DOWN UNITY PLAN

But is Ready to Co-operate With Canadian Legion of League

The Dominion convention delegates of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada last night voted against amalgamation with the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. After four hours of deliberation of the delegates, a resolutions committeee was instructed to draft a motion. This having been prepared and brought in for reading, the convention reassembled. The motion went to the vote and was passed by a heavy majority. The resolution read:

"That we, the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada in convention assembled, are unable to agree to the proposal for union with the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, but we go on record as being prepared to co-operate with the Canadian Legion and every other recognized body of ex-service men in all activities which are in accordance with the objects and ideals of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada."

Delegates this afternoon were taken in cars in and about Victoria. An attractive entertainment will be provided at the Crystal Garden this evening when the delegates will be guests of the city of Victoria.

Officers of the Dominion Command will be elected to-day at the convention sessions and it is expected that the afternoon will see the end of the convention.

RUSH WORK ON FORT STREET RESURFACING

Little Traffic Interference as Job Proceeds

The public works committee has been commended for the expedition with which the work of the resurfacing of Fort Street, between Douglas and Government Streets, is being carried out. Work on the improvement is being pushed by the engineer's staff, and the new roadway will be thrown open to traffic soon. The resurfacing is being done in sections to create as little interference as possible with traffic.

Luxton

Luxton and Happy Valley, Sept. 24.—The following members of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute were present at the "at home" given by the Colwood Women's Institute to celebrate the sixteenth birthday anniversary of the institute. Mesdames Brown, Cooper, Baxter, Hutchison, Oliver, Batchelor, Brice, Hankin, Scoular, Madders, Helmsley, Page, Morrow and Higham. A most enjoyable afternoon was spent by the members. Luxton and Happy Valley Institute is a "daughter" of the Colwood Institute, having been organized nearly three years ago, but prior to that being one with the Colwood Institute.

An instructive and interesting address was given in the hall of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Happy Valley, by Mr. Raper of Victoria on Sunday last, which was illustrated by lantern slides. There was a good congregation and much interest was shown. Another similar service will be held next month.

Mrs. W. A. Gillard and her daughter Hester of Vancouver are visiting Mrs. Gillard's sister, Mrs. Morrow, at "Wayside," Luxton.

Mrs. Sandwith of Friday Harbor, Wash., motored over to spend a few days with Mrs. Cooper at "Arbutus Cottage."

TUNNEY SPLASHES HIS WAY TO VICTORY

Gene's Gloves, Soaked and Red With Dempsey's Blood, Batter Old Champion, Who Charged to the End

Jack Gives Proof of Ability to Withstand Punishment and Displays More Courage Than Any Other Fighter in Modern Ring History; Cries When Its All Over; Three Years of Idleness Take Their Toll; Tunney Was Master From the Start and Out-fought, Out-boxed and Out-generaled the Former Title-holder With Masterful Exhibition; Record Crowd Soaked in Rain But Stays Till Finish

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—The sceptre of the world's heavyweight championship kingdom that Jack Dempsey had held since 1919 is wielded to-day by a new monarch, Gene Tunney, idol of the United States Marines and New York's Greenwich Village.

Through a steady downpour of rain that drenched the greatest fight spectacle of all time, Tunney, the man who shouldered a buck private's musket in the conflict of the ages, fought his way to the peak of pugilistic heights. In a match that completely reversed general expectations, stunning in its one-sidedness, Tunney pounded and flayed the titleholder into helplessness. Dempsey was so badly battered that only fighting instinct kept him on his feet through a hectic struggle and to the final bell.

Tunney won all the way. He was the conqueror, to all intents and purposes, after beating Dempsey to the ropes in the first round and staggering him with a succession of smashing rights to the head. From then to the finish, the challenger dominated the fight, out-fighting, out-boxing and out-generaling the title-holder with a masterful exhibition.

BATTERED INTO SUBMISSION

Tunney failed to bring his foe down, but he battered the heavily-favored champion into almost complete submission with such decisiveness that the official announcement of the decision crowning a new king was lost in the uproar that broke loose with the tap of the last gong.

Dempsey was a mere shadow of the fighting machine that has been ranked among the greatest in boxing annals. Against such a cool and calculating opponent as Tunney it would have taken Dempsey at his best to keep his crown, but such fighting equipment as he could summon for his last stand was pitifully inadequate to combat the determined, resourceful and smashing drives of Tunney, whose speed, tactics and powerful right-hand execution exceeded even the fondest hopes of his followers.

Dripping wet and bleeding from half a dozen cuts about his face, his left eye closed tightly and a lump the size of an egg over his right eye, Dempsey was a sorry, even if game fighter in defeat. Three years of idleness had taken their toll. Experience and courage alone were unable to withstand Tunney's fighting ambition, youth and ability.

The greatest fight crowd of all time—the largest, in fact, that ever paid to witness any sporting event anywhere—sat through the soaking downpour to see the passing of the old champion and hail the crowning of the new. Some 132,000 filled the vast reaches of the mammoth stadium and paid the record sum of nearly $2,000,000 to see a spectacle that was sensational in its climax, even if not as thrilling as had been expected.

GREAT HEART WILLING

Dempsey's great heart was willing to carry him into the fury of battle for the spirit was there, but the flesh, ravaged by three years of idleness, could not be lashed into a supreme effort. Time and again Tunney shook Dempsey until the latter's knees bent not with one blow, but with a storm of punches. A weaker man, a man with less courage undoubtedly would have gone down under the attack, but Dempsey, beaten, and beaten badly, never once stopped fighting.

No fighter in modern history of the ring displayed more courage than Dempsey while losing his crown, and it must be said of him that he lost his title fighting a fight.

NOT HALF OLD DEMPSEY

The Dempsey who had been harassed almost to the point of nervous collapse as he strove to get into condition after three years of idleness was not the Dempsey of old—not by fifty per cent.

Yet, Dempsey wants another chance at his conqueror. He boldly asked for it last night, when he rushed into the centre of the ring to embrace Tunney as he was proclaimed the new champion.

DEMPSEY BREAKS DOWN

Dempsey broke down and cried when he reached the seclusion of his hotel last night. He bravely held up while making the trip from the stadium, but when he found himself alone in his room, he buried his face in his hands and sobbed for a few seconds. Then he quickly regained his composure and stretched himself on the bed to have his tired and aching body soothed at the hands of Jerry the Greek, his personal attendant and rubber.

The former champion is to be joined to-day by his wife, Estelle Taylor, who is speeding from Los Angeles.

Few words were exchanged by Tunney and his advisers in the ring between the rounds.

As the challenger continued to pile up a lead on the battered champion, Bronson, Tunney's chief second, whispered after the eighth round: "Keep away and take no chances on a wet canvas with wet gloves. It's in the bag. You can't lose if you box it out with him."

TUNNEY NOT WORRIED

"Don't worry," was Tunney's reply, his two-word total of conversation between the first and final bell.

"At that," said Bronson, after the bout, "he was mixing it at the end."

Bronson lost one argument before the championship struggle got underway. When Dempsey entered the ring wearing pads of collodion and cotton over his eyebrows, Bronson challenged the patches as illegal on the ground that they gave a second skin to two vulnerable spots.

The referee overruled the contention and the coverings remained for the start. They were later knocked off by Tunney.

Tunney will be a regular champion. He said, "I must prove worthy of the confidence of my friends and justify my training as a marine."

"I am naturally gratified," he went on. "I knew soon after the start that I was the champion's master. I fought a carefully planned battle and it succeeded to the fondest of my expectations. Dempsey was game. He gave me trouble, but I was never doubtful of the outcome."

GIVES TUNNEY CREDIT

Dempsey declared: "It's the old story. The best man won. I have no alibis; give all the credit to Gene. He's a great champion." The champion, badly battered as he was, rushed from his corner after the announcement of the decision and embraced Tunney in the middle of the ring.

Tunney was in command from the start. Before the bell had ended the first round, with the crowd amazed at Dempsey's slowness, the challenger had begun to seize his opportunities. As the champion swung wildly, the former marine worked in his left jabs and crossed with solid rights that shook Dempsey up.

From then on, with monotonous regularity, Tunney beat off Dempsey's rushes with jolting blows to the head and body. The challenger gave ground more often than Dempsey, but it was for strategic purposes, not because he was suffering much punishment. Tunney's right eye was cut in one exchange, in the seventh round, and blood flowed from the reopening of cuts on his lips, but these did not bother him to any extent. He took Dempsey's stiffest punches without flinching and ducked or blocked most of the others.

RAIN WAS HEAVY

Tex Rickard's weather luck finally failed for the first time since he began promoting boxing's biggest spectacles, but the soaked tens of thousands, including many women, refused to leave their seats. Many had come prepared, but the big majority took their drenching smilingly and stuck to the finish to cheer the advent of a new reign in pugilism.

The rain started lightly at first, shortly after Dempsey and Tunney entered the ring. During an unusually long delay caused by the taping of their hands, it increased in intensity. By the time the final bell sounded, the two gladiators were spattered by solid sheets of water. Tunney's gloves, soaked and crimson with Dempsey's blood, literally splashed their way to victory.

ADMISSION CHARGES

To the Sports Editor,—The impression seems to be abroad among football fans that the admission to all games at the Royal Athletic Park is thirty-five cents. This is not so. There will be a game there to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock between the Wests and the Saanich Thistles (the new entry into senior company), and the admission to this game will be the usual twenty-five cents.

Foley To Fight In Finals For Bantam Laurels of Canada

Won Decision Over McGowan of Montreal and Fights Mireault For Title

Montreal, Sept. 24—Vic Foley, of Vancouver, will meet Silvio Mireault, of Montreal, next Wednesday night here in the final bout of the featherweight championship eliminations of Canada as a result of the victories won by these fighters in the semi-final bouts that were staged here last night.

Foley disposed of Mickey McGowan, of Montreal, by a decision in their ten-round bout to-night; while Mireault was awarded the decision over Bobby Booth, of Toronto.

Foley, who was fighting his second match since entering the featherweight ranks (he relinquished the bantamweight championship owing to overweight), was rarely in trouble, although he had a bare margin over McGowan.

From the moment the gong sounded Foley and McGowan went at it hammer and tongs. Round after round they stood toe to toe and battered one another. In the fifth round Foley opened a cut over McGowan's eye. Until up to the sixth round they fought on even terms, but Foley's greater experience began to tell. The local man, however, decided to trade punches with his opponent and absorbed as many as he gave. From the seventh round Foley took command and from then on piled up sufficient points to give him the fight.

SCENES SHOWING NEW CHAMPION PREPARING FOR FIGHT

First Division Teams Start Play To-morrow

Saanich Thistles Get Their First Test in Senior Company Against Wests at the Royal Athletic Park; Esquimalt, Last Year's Champions, Play James Island; All Teams Have Strengthened Considerably

Teams in the First Division of the Lower Island Football Association will get a chance to make a couple of bows to the public to-morrow afternoon. The opening games have been arranged to start at 2.30 o'clock and the four teams in the division will be engaged.

The games arranged for to-morrow are as follows:

Victoria Wests vs. Saanich Thistles at the Royal Athletic Park.
Esquimalt vs. James Island at Beacon Hill.

Much interest will be taken in the meeting of the Thistles and Victoria West. This is the opening effort of the youngsters in the First Division. They won the Junior League last year handily and followed up this success with victories over senior elevens. This inspired the youngsters with confidence and they decided to try their luck in first-class company this season. They have youth and stamina on their side and will be a hard club to beat.

WESTS STRONGER

The Wests, factors in football here for many years, have strengthened up considerably this year, having signed several of the stars who played with the Sons of England last season. Bob Whyte will play goal with Wright and Ernie Hardwood at full-back. Bill Passmore, Charlie Thomas and Eddie Popham will be on the half-back line. The forwards will have plenty of speed. Carlton, Connorton, Pat Mulcahy, Johnny Beden, Mason and Jimmie Sherratt are available for the attacking line.

Esquimalt have lost one or two of last year's regulars but have signed other men. Darrell Mesher will play goal with Joe Watt and Tommy Rickinson at full-back. "Cotton" and Walter Brynjolfson and Hosmer will likely start on the half-back line, while Spears, Stewart, John Walter, Coulter, Warren, Wagland and Davidson give the dockers plenty of good material for the front line.

ISLANDERS COMING TO TOWN

James Island will come to town for their opening game, owing to the fact that their own grounds are not yet in shape for play. They are calling on the following players to-morrow: Rodgers, Whyster, Dowds, Burrie, Robb, J. Aldous, Paiston, G. Aldous, Bissell, Serill, Goldie, Whyster.

The Victoria City eleven were scheduled to proceed to Vancouver for a meeting to-morrow with Westminster United. The local team has been forced to cancel the trip owing to injuries. Allen, one of the backs, broke his wrist last Saturday, while Phillips also met with an injury. Both Mirfield and Cameron are unfit to travel.

Charlie Reid Signs Contract to Play in Front of Detroit Nets

Vancouver, Sept. 24.—Charlie Reid, substitute goalie for the Vancouver Maroons when Lehman was out of commission through rheumatism, has been signed by Art Duncan for Detroit. Reid was in the city yesterday, en route to Seattle, from where he plans to leave for the scene of his new hockey labors immediately.

Duncan, in a recent trip through the prairie sectors, signed up a number of former Western Canada League players, including Halderson and Fredrickson of the Victoria Cougars.

Vernon Forbes is also signed with Detroit, but the N.H.L. clubs all expect to carry two goalies on the roster.

Riflemen Will Hold Annual Meeting Next Tuesday at Armories

The annual general meeting of the Victoria and District Military Rifle Association will be held in the lecture room at the Armories on Tuesday, September 28, at 8 p.m.

This meeting is for the purpose of electing the executive and council for the seasons 1926-27, receiving the reports of the outgoing executive, and laying plans for the ensuing season.

Much important business is on the table, and all riflemen are asked to be present.

Members wishing to attend the dinner at the Dominion Hotel on Sunday evening at 6 p.m. with the Vancouver team are asked to notify the secretary, C.Q.M.S. Fyfe, as early as possible in order that arrangements may be made.

Struggle of Reds To Overtake St. Louis Receives Spotlight

Cincinnati on Verge of Defeat Yesterday When Donohue Pulled Them Through

Another Loss For Reds and Win For Cards Will Give St. Louis Title

New York, Sept. 24 — The struggle of the Cincinnati Reds to overcome a two and a half game lead of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League for a chance at the world series next week will now receive the spotlight.

Fifteen innings of thrilling play with Philadelphia gave no help to Cincinnati yesterday. Darkness halted the struggle with the score tied 6-6. With the exception of Pittsburgh and Boston, all other contestants in the league retired from the stage until Dempsey-Tunney had concluded their battle.

No games were scheduled in the American League.

The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.	To Play
St. Louis	88	63	.583	3
Cincinnati	85	65	.567	4

Cincinnati probably will be given an opportunity to play off yesterday's tie game in order to complete the schedule of 154 games. One more loss in the Cincinnati column will leave the Reds only the possibility of a tie with the Cards. Another St Louis victory will have the same effect on the standing. The Cards were matched against New York to-day and the Reds against the Phillies.

DONOHUE SAVES GAME

After the Quakers had tied the game in the eighth and had battered Epha Rixey all the way, Donohue held them to one lone hit for the remainder of the game, Carlson for the Quakers, was invincible in the pinches.

The Braves beat the retiring champions 2-1.

Three defeats for the Yanks in four starts while the Indians are winning their four final conflicts would give Cleveland the flag.

The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.	To Play

Cleveland	87	63	.580	4

GENE SARAZEN—VOLUNTARY SLICE

It is one thing to be able to slice a golf shot and another to control the slice. The average beginner, failing to keep the elbows close to the body, is prone to cut across the ball, which invariably produces a slice.

That isn't the kind of sliced shot I was after. What I set out to develop and what I needed was the kind of slice that had a slight fade-away to the right.

I decided to change the position of the ball instead of the position of my feet.

I moved the ball to and fro until I had located the right spot, almost opposite the heel of left foot. In other words, I found that by playing the ball more off the left foot than the right, and by cutting across the ball slightly, I got the results I desired. I play most of my shots with the ball almost opposite the centre of my stance.

Finding I could slice a ball playing in the manner described above I practiced and practiced on the shot until I had it perfected. One wrong shot can ruin you in a tight match.

RAILWAY MEN IN CONFERENCE DEBATE SETTLER TRANSPORTATION

C.N.R. Colonization Representatives Attend Three-day Meeting in Montreal; Sound Policy of Establishing Settlers on Land Outlined by Vice-president

Montreal, Que., Sept. 24.—A three days' conference attended by the European representatives of the Canadian National Railways' Colonization Department, held at headquarters in Montreal and presided over by Dr. W. J. Black, closed to-day.

At this conference various phases of the transporting of settlers from England and from the continent to Canada and details as to their care after settlement on the land in this country, were discussed.

The conference resulted in the smoothing out of difficulties that have confronted the department in the past and the laying of definite plans for the future. Present at this conference from the European organization were Captain George M. Dix, Robert England and A. E. Weir.

SPEEDING OF PROGRAMME

In discussing the situation W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways in charge of colonization, said "we have been laying plans at a series of conferences of our Colonization, Agriculture and Natural Resources Department during the last three days for development and speeding up the whole immigration programme during 1927.

"It is now a little over two years since the Canadian National Railway's Department of Colonization, Agriculture and Natural Resources was established under the direction of Dr. W. J. Black, who at that time proceeded to Great Britain and there laid down an effective organization with offices in the principal centres of Great Britain and Continental Europe to co-ordinate with his work. We developed in Western Canada a highly efficient organization for taking care of settlers after their arrival. We have recognized clearly that the old days of dumping settlers in this country and leaving them to shift for themselves is long dead or should be, hence our department sees that every man we are responsible for bringing out definitely settles in a farm job or on a farm of his own. We place him in a position in which he can make good if he has the will to do so.

SOUND POLICY

"The soundness of this policy," continued Mr. Robb, "has so proved itself that, though our department has only been operating a little over two years, we have, during the last six months, placed a larger number of new settlers in jobs and on farms than any other organization in the Dominion, and the Canadian National Railways have carried to their destination nearly sixty per cent. of the new arrivals in Canada this year. Our present conference," said Mr. Robb, "is the first we have held but we felt the work to be of such great importance that only by such a method could we co-ordinate and perfect it so as to get the results we desire next year.

DEMAND GREATER

"During the last season the demand for British settlers in both Western and Eastern Canada has been much greater than ever before. We propose to make every effort to answer this demand and are prepared to handle several times more British and Scandinavian settlers than we were able to secure this year. The Canadian National Railway realizes its obligations and opportunities in connection with this particular feature of immigration which means so much to Canada, while our efforts during the past two years have been mainly devoted to recruiting farm workers in Europe and placing them in farm employment.

THREE THOUSAND FAMILIES

"We are hoping next year to develop the settlement of families to a greater extent than formerly. In additional to co-operating in every way with the Dominion Government in furthering the 3,000 family scheme which has been so successful in our settlement work during the past two years," Mr. Robb added. One of the most valuable factors has been a special course in Canadian farming which we have carried on. Through this we have been able to get the settlers into the proper attitude of mind to settle down and go to work on his arrival in this country. Out of the many hundreds who took the course sixty per cent. have come to Caanda and have been placed without any difficulty, and have given an excellent account of themselves. No complaints having been received from the men themselves or from those with whom they were placed.

Pacific Steamship Company's Florida Office is Damaged

Seattle, Sept. 24—Norman H. Allen, agent of the Pacific Steamship Company at Miami, Fla., was injured and the line's offices and terminal in that city were badly damaged in the hurricane, headquarters of the company were advised here yesterday. Allen sent the following telegram to E. G. McMicken, passenger traffic agent of the line:

"Hurricane damaged Flagler Street office. Front windows out, part of ceiling caved in. All office furniture and records damaged by water. Causeways half gone. All floating equipment wrecked or ashore. All dredges destroyed but Magic City, which is ashore. Admiral Line terminals wrecked."

Mitsui & Co., announced yesterday that its big motorship Akagisan Maru will arrive here Sunday to load for the Far East. The steamship Akibisan Maru is due at Gray's Harbor the last of the month to lift 3,200,000 feet of lumber for Japan.

From the Far East with 3,800 tons of cargo including 3,000 bales of silk, the steamship President Grant of the Admiral-Oriental line is due here October 2. In the same service the freighter Eldridge arrives in Seattle Saturday and leaves for the Orient, October 5.

LUMBER BOOM IN SOUTH EXPECTED

Eastbound Liners in Intercoastal Services All Carrying Big Lumber Cargoes

A repetition of the lumber boom which was in full swing last year with the Florida heydey is expected again according to shipping experts, due to the great devastation of property in the Southern States in last week's hurricane.

Experts further point out that every large liner in the inter-coastal service is taxed to capacity, with eastbound cargoes so that any further pressure on this service will have to be taken care of by old vessels which have been laid up. This was the case during the peak of the Florida boom last year, when several vessels were chartered to carry lumber to the Florida coast for as high as $19. The prevailing rate to the North Atlantic is $14.

British Columbia will probably secure its share of business as for some time past it has had its eye on the Southern market. Representatives of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce recently visited Florida for the purpose of a survey of lumber market prospects. A number of shipments from this province were made before the disaster.

CITY DELEGATES AT TWO CONVENTIONS

Canadian Tax Conference and Good Roads Convention Open Next Week

D. A. Macdonald, City Comptroller, leaves for Winnipeg this afternoon to attend the Canadian Tax conference of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, to open at Fort Garry Hotel on September 28.

The City Comptroller leaves with an invitation from Mayor Pendray to the delegates, urging them to come West for the next annual gathering, and throwing open Victoria as a convention site for that purpose.

Mr. Macdonald is going armed with facts and figures on the remarkable progress made by Victoria in the last few years, and with special reference to the prepayment of taxes plan, which scheme, unique among Canadian cities, is working to greater success than ever this year.

After his return from Seattle tomorrow, where he has gone to address the Seattle Chamber of Commerce on Victoria, Mayor J. C. Pendray will leave for Edmonton at the end of the week, to represent the city at the Dominion-wide convention of the Good Roads League. The roads gathering opens at Edmonton on September 28, and will be attended by delegates from all over Canada.

FREIGHT RATES TO BRITAIN INCREASE

Increased Cost of Coal Sends up Charges For Atlantic Transportation

Montreal, Sept. 24.—Effective immediately, a general advance of fifteen per cent has been made in the freight rates from Canadian ports to the United Kingdom by the steamship lines represented in the Canadian Transatlantic Conference, announcement of this having been issued yesterday by A. O. Minshall, conference secretary, on behalf of the companies concerned.

The reason given for this rise in rates is the increasing cost of coal and the necessity for ships having to take coal aboard in this country for the round trip, thus reducing the amount of their available cargo-carrying space.

The commodities that will be affected by this surcharge are only those included in the list dealt with under the jurisdiction of the conference. Cattle, flour and grains are not affected by the new rates as these do not come under purview of the lines as a whole.

No change has been made in the freight rates to the Continent, the assumption being that ships can coal at any of the ports at which they discharge cargo outside of the United Kingdom.

It is learned that the North Atlantic-United Kingdom Conference had a similar increase of rates under consideration and that they will be brought into effect concidentally with the changes by the Canadian Transatlantic Conference.

The Canadian Government Merchant Marine is not a member of the Canadian Transatlantic Conference. It is not known if the company will follow the lead of the conference shipping lines.

FOUR SURVIVORS ARE RESCUED FROM YACHT

Three Men and Woman Taken Off "The Advance" Shipwrecked Off Castle Island

New York, Sept. 24.—Rescue of a woman and three men from the shipwrecked yacht, The Advance, off Castle Island was reported yesterday by Capt. E. W. Spurr of the Panama Railroad Company's freighter Guayaquil.

In a radio to his offices here, Capt. Spurr said the four rescued persons were Miss J. Fortloge, Louis Crosselette, Edwin Bedlows and John Smith. The rescue was made yesterday afternoon. The four will arrive in New York aboard the freighter next Sunday or Monday. Capt. Spurr gave no details of the rescue in his brief wireless message.

Castle Island is one of the Bahamas group. The Guayaquil was bound from Colon when the yacht was sighted.

ATAGO MARU DOCKS FROM ORIENT PORTS

N.Y.K. Liner Brings 200 Tons of Cargo For This Port

Five-Million-Dollar Silk Consignment is Now on Way to Seattle on Paris Maru

The Atago Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line steamed into William Head quarantine station at 12 noon to-day. The vessel docked at Ritchet's early in the afternoon. She left Yokohama on September 9.

For this port the Atago had 200 tons of general Oriental cargo and a few passengers.

After discharging her cargo the vessel cleared for Seattle. For Seattle she had four first cabin passengers, 1,690 bales of silk, five cases of silk goods and 2,700 tons of general cargo.

One of the largest consignments of raw silk and silk goods to be shipped to this coast this year from the Orient is now on its way. The Paris Maru of the O.S.K. line is bringing the cargo, worth approximately $5,000,000. Included in the shipment are 5,600 bales of the raw product and fifty measurement tons of silk goods. The vessel will go direct to Seattle, arriving on October 5, whence the valuable shipment will be shipped East. Sixteen railway cars will be required to transport the silk in two special trains over the Milwaukee Railroad.

Other parties of bankers will be passing up and down the coast during the next couple of weeks in connection with the convention.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian, west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

THREE-YEAR-OLD ACTOR SHOWS GIFT FOR ENGINEERING

If early influences determine a child's future, Delbert Emery Whitten Jr., age three, will at some future time become a mechanical engineer.

Delbert recently completed his first film role in Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "Tin Gods," now playing at the Dominion Theatre. Among the toys used to invegle Master Whitten's attention was a large box of miniature construction blocks which Meighan, playing Delbert's daddy, used.

By the time the production had been completed, the boy was able to distinguish between girders, cantilevers and pontoons. He also gave Tom, Renee Adoree, Aileen Pringle, Director Allan Dwan and other members of the company pointers on construction that might well have amazed experienced engineers.

CAPITOL PICTURE PORTRAYS OPENING OF INDIAN LANDS

The opening of the Indian lands for settlement by the whites is the epochal story of the Fox Films production of "Three Bad Men," which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

Not only is this an intensely interesting picture of one of the most romantic periods of American history, that following soon after the Civil War, but it is also a gripping story of the struggle of two youthful lovers for land. George O'Brien plays the part of the hard riding young pioneer, Dan O'Malley, and Olive Borden as the winsome but courageous young orphan.

The "Three Bad Men," historically accurate portraits of the bad men of that period, are splendidly portrayed by J. Farrell MacDonald, Tom Santschi and Frank Campeau. The supporting cast is one of the strongest assembled for a picture in some time, including as it does such well known film favorites as Lou Tellegen in the role of the villain; George Harris, Jay Hunt, who starred in "Lightnin'"; Priscilla Bonner, Otis Harlan, Walter Perry, Grace Gordon, George Irving and Alec B. Francis, star of "Thank You."

PATHOS, ROMANCE, HOPE, HUMOR, IN PLAY "POLLYANNA"

"Pollyanna," the romantic drama now playing at the Coliseum Theatre in aid of the Solarium fund, is undoubtedly the finest piece of work yet presented by the clever Coliseum players under the talented supervision of Ed. Redmond. A beautiful story with a well-balanced intermingling of pathos, hopefulness, romance and good clean humor, one finds the audience one minute surreptitiously hiding their emotions, only to be convulsed by laughter the next minute.

Two Jays' Dance — Saturday. Chamber of Commerce; four spot prizes. ***

"INFATUATION," AT PLAYHOUSE, SPICED WITH MYSTERIES

Egypt figures prominently in Corinne Griffith's latest starring picture, "Infatuation," which is at the Playhouse Theatre this week.

As is usual with stories allocated in this strange land, the film fairly vibrates with all manner of mysterious and unforeseen events. Yet it is said to be not strictly a mystery drama, but rather a drama favored with some of the spice of mystery.

"Infatuation" is an adaptation by First National of "Caesar's Wife," W. Somerset Maugham's stage success. The plot of the play concerns the forced flirtation of a neglected wife and her eventual reclamation by her husband.

Supporting Miss Griffith are Percy Marmont, Malcolm MacGregor, Warner Oland, Leota Lorraine, Martha Mattox, Claire DuBrey and Clarissa Selwynne.

Survey of Art Theatres in U.S.

New York, Sept. 24—(Canadian Press)—Art theatres in communities throughout the United States are to have a helping hand from the Independent Theatres Clearing House.

Announcement is made that a survey of these experimental and art theatres has been started, and when it is completed the Clearing House will establish in New York a national service bureau where art and community theatre staffs may obtain information about plays, methods of production, directors, theatre architecture, methods of financing and administration and advice on any question concerning none-commercial stage work.

From a few scattered "little theatres" there have sprung up approximately 1,000 individual producing groups, which probably spend $5,000,000 annually in staging plays above the "business stage" average in artistic values, according to officials of the Clearing House. These independent producing groups are believed to reach a larger public than either the stock companies or the road companies sent out by Broadway producers.

LITERARY NOTES

One of the surprises of the present publishing season is a posthumous story by Marjorie L. Pickthall. This able writer, who was cut off suddenly just when she had matured her powers, evidently left a considerable body of manuscript behind her. We have already had a volume of short stories and one of verse, and now comes "Little Hearts," a full length romance. The background for this narrative is south-western England in the days of Wesley. Beyond the momentary appearance of a Methodist prophetess, however, there is no religious atmosphere. One of the principal characters, supposed to be a Jacobite, is succored by Michael Sampson, a poverty stricken country gentleman, who is something of a philosopher. His cousin supplies the love interest. The romance is beautifully written, but its plot is so slight that it should never have exceeded the confines of a short story.

* * *

Who wrote "God Save the King?" An interesting controversy has been waged in the English press of late regarding the origin of the National Anthem. Some claim that it was built after a German model and dates back to the reign of George the First. Another antiquary declares that the words were written by Ben Jonson, the music composed by John Bull, and that it was first sung at Merchant Taylors's Hall, on July 7, 1607, by the gentlemen and children of His Majesty's Chapel Royal, when King James the First was present at a dinner given by the company on his escape from the Gunpowder Plot. The words "frustrate their knavish tricks" applied very nicely to the Guy Fawkes incident.

* * *

Sir Rider Haggard's autobiography, "The Days of My Life," which was written fifteen years ago, will be published in two volumes early in October. The autobiography covers the first thirty-five years of the author's life, and gives a full account of Haggard's early days in South Africa, and the Boer War, of how he came to write "She," "King Solomon's Mines" and the Allan Quatermain stories, of his travels, and of his friendship with many distinguished people, Cecil Rhodes, Robert Louis Stevenson, Andrew Lang, William Morris, Joseph Chamberlain, Rudyard Kipling, Emperor Frederick of Germany and Theodore Roosevelt appear in the pages of this book.

* * *

Every reader of "Allan Quatermain" will remember that huge Zulu warrior, Umslopogaas, and will be glad to learn that he was a real person, a Swazi of high birth, whom Haggard met in South Africa. The chief was tall, thin, and fierce-faced with a great hole above the left temple, over which the skin pulsated. One day long after Haggard had left South Africa and had become a famous novelist, the chief had a talk with an Englishman named Osborn, whom the natives called Mall-mat. "Is it true, Mall-mat," asked Umslopogaas, "that Indanda (meaning Haggard) has been using my name largely in books that he has written?"

"Yes, it is true, Umslopogaas."

"So! Now what does Indanda do with the books when he has written them?"

"He sells them, Umslopogaas."

"Then, Mall-mat, say to the Inkoos Indanda when you meet him across the Black Water that, as he makes money by writing about me, it is right and just that he should send me half the money!"

"Haggard took the hint and sent him, not money, but a very fine hunting knife with his name engraved upon it."

"Bison of Clay," just translated from the French, is a romance of people who lived on earth 25,000 years ago. The author, Max Begouen, is a well known archaeologist who, with his brothers, in 1912 discovered fossils and relics of prehistoric life in a cave on the property of his father, Count Begouen, near Ariege, France. At the same time they found two bison modeled in clay, which are reputed to be the oldest existing examples of prehistoric sculpture. From these bison the novel takes its name. Mr. Begouen has now drawn on the knowledge of prehistoric conditions and customs gained in his exploration of these caves to tell the romance of "The Lynx and the Woman Chief," "Spring-on-the-Prairie." Robert L. Duffus has translated the novel from French. —W.T.A.

AUTUMN CHIC

New tendencies in the harmonized ensemble.

Notes from the openings.

By Lucille La Marre

"NOW one step further," the Parisian designers urge, "to make the ensemble perfect."

Everything must match or harmonize, if in contrast. Already we are trained in gowns and hats. Now we must harmonize gloves, hosiery and lingerie.

It seems that since the silhouette and the short skirt are established as the vogue, the designers have now concentrated on those three very important intimacies which touch one's skin.

In treatment, in shades, there is a fascinating offering.

Only Parisian designers can create them. Lovely raiment—those three intimate accessories Madame and Mademoiselle choose with the utmost care—so precious because they alone offer such opportunity for individuality, self-expression.

Only Paris understands the art of creating those ideals—how to make them daringly shy.

—gloves so ever-changing, so certain to accent lovely hands, yet keep them refreshingly demure.

—hosiery, always of the moment, so flatteringly enticing, yet reserved enough never to be conspicuous.

—lingerie such as only the French can give chic and allure.

But I venture to assert that while it takes French ingenuity to conceive, it takes Canadian ingenuity to produce.

It takes a great house like Julius Kayser & Co., to interpret and transmit Paris originations to a wide-spread nation of women like ours.

What would otherwise bloom only along the boulevards of Paris, or if imported would cost fabulously, are offered now, thanks to Kayser, almost simultaneously with presentation in Paris but at a price including no duty.

As a fashion reporter, I know what it is to be in the midst of the early season along the Riviera. And how hectic it is in the preshowings in Paris. I know what it means to see everything, to weigh, to forecast, to differentiate between fads and the vogue. It is a gigantic task.

Now Kayser acts as a clearing house for you. Through observers and by cable, it is in constant touch with the fountain heads of fashion.

As if you were shopping in Paris at one of those smart little places in the shadow of the Monument Vendôme, or just off the Rue de Rivoli—or my own favorite street, Rue St. Honoré—you can now go to your own favorite shop "over here" and have shown to you the autumn offerings in lingerie, hosiery and gloves, Paris designed, Kayser made.

I do not want to give you the erroneous idea that style alone is the most important subject. I learned that mistake in Paris. I find French women owe most of their chic to the fact that they do not buy on impulse, but with due deliberation.

A Parisienne will not sacrifice chic to extravagance. She is the most economical dresser in the world. Yet she attains the utmost in effect.

This tendency, fortunately, is more and more evident in Canada. And Julius Kayser & Co., I feel, has done much to further it.

To its credit must be stated the fact that it is the premier house combining chic and economy.

Premier in style because of its facilities. Premier in interpretation because of its experience.

Yet this division of its policies is not offset by any sacrifice to quality. It is an old concern and it is, I am thankful to say, "old-fashioned" enough to manufacture in the old way.

When an article bears the Kayser label it is 100% pure silk. It is tinted with 100% pure dyes. It is made in a sunlight shop with old-fashioned care.

What could be a more coveted combination? The vogue, with economy. She who outfits herself exclusively with Kayser intimacies can ever rest assured that she is perfectly correct, yet never extravagant. She is, in spirit, a true Parisienne.

All Kayser stockings are fine gauge (42 gauge). Note their smooth, even elasticity compared with ordinary coarse gauge stockings.

May I call your attention to the adjoining columns, inviting you to inspect the latest Kayser offerings at your own favorite shops?

Introducing the Correct Modes

New colors in Kayser Full Fashioned Thread Silk Hosiery

COLORS that delight and fascinate—colors that complement correctly the lovely ensembles of the season and obey the edict of Fashion in a most charming way, by harmonizing with each gown.

Arab—Ombra—Boulevard—Riviera—Circassian are new tones in the Kayser range of shades. Each is exquisite in itself, the clear beauty of the coloring being enhanced by the perfection of the silken weave.

The slenderness of a silken ankle is made more graceful by the Kayser Slipper-Heel. (Exclusively Kayser).*

And the Marvel-Stripe discreetly prevents the tantalizing garter runs. (Exclusively Kayser).*

Your assurance of 100% pure silk, 100% pure dyes and truly full fashioned hosiery is to request Kayser.

Torturing Pains and Swollen Joints Vanish When Rheuma is Used or Money Back
If you want quick gratifying relief take one teaspoonful of Rheuma night and morning. Almost from the first day you should realize that when Rheuma goes in Rheumatism goes out. It acts on the blood, stomach and liver forcing the dangerous poison to leave the system in the natural way—that's the secret of Rheuma's success.
It matters not whether you are tortured with pain, crippled with swollen joints or distressed with occasional twinges, Rheuma is guaranteed by Vancouver Drug Co., and all druggists, to end rheumatic suffering or money back.
Rheumatism is a dangerous disease. It often affects the heart and causes death. If you have it in the slightest degree get a bottle of Rheuma to-day and drive it from your system right now. (Advt.)

Crippled Veterans Meet in Calgary

Calgary, Sept. 24.—After a lengthy debate, the Amputation Association of the Great War, in annual convention here yesterday, tabled a resolution which advocated legislation to provide unemployment insurance for disabled veterans. The vote was 11 to 8.

Resolutions passed at the last Dominion convention of the organization with regard to artificial limbs, stump socks, orthopaedic and surgical appliances, were again brought forward in eight different resolutions and after some discussion were reaffirmed.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, Sept. 24 (By R. P. Clark and Company).—The maintenance of the local discount rate at 4 per cent at yesterday's meeting was carried over, an influence which promoted considerable short covering in to-day's market, and gains were general. Steel common was one of to-day's features, and good buying had a favorable influence on the general list. The equipments gave a good account of themselves in the day's turnover, in respect to improved bookings recently for rolling stock, but there were some soft spots in the market, such as C. & O., which was due to profit-taking, and Arm. Smelting, reflecting the decline in silver.

Earning figures were prominent in the overnight news, with Int'l. T. & T. displaying a very fine exhibit. To-day's recovery was more orderly, but buying operations that are having a depressing influence on the general list are still confined to selective issues, and represent professional activities, and while it would not be surprising to see special issues taken in hand and propelled higher, such as Steel common, we believe it it still too early for a sustained upward swing in the general market.

New York, Sept. 24 (By B. C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire).—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Stocks rallied briskly from an over-sold position in to-day's session. Continued attempts by professionals to force reactions has demonstrated that price levels had been reached where adequate support was in evidence.

When liquidation was no longer forthcoming, the bears began to bid for stocks needed for covering purposes, and a smart recovery ensued. Groundwork for the rebound was supplied by the weekly Federal reserve statements, which showed a strengthening of the reserve ratio for the combined system to 73.1 per cent from 76.6 per cent a week ago and for the New York institution to 79.5 per cent from 74.8 per cent. This improvement was made more noteworthy by the increase in borrowings on part of the member banks reflected in an expansion of bills discounted by about $96,000,000 for the entire system, of which $42,500,000 took place at this centre.

It was obvious, therefore, that the firming up of the reserve ratios resulted directly from a decrease in deposit liabilities, both as to member banks and Government balances. This represented the winding up of the treasury financing and tax payments the middle of the month. In the system total deposits were down $85,000,000 and for New York $70,000,000. Member banks withdrew some balances to their credit to take up subscriptions to the flotation of short term treasury notes last week, accounting for the drop in deposits. With these operations nearing completion, an easier tone was looked for in credit conditions. U. S. Steel gave impetus to rallying tendencies in the leading speculative stocks by recoiling sharply against big operators who had been using this stock as a club in trying to depress the whole market.

DUNWELL OWNERS ENDORSE CAPITAL INCREASE PROPOSAL

140,000 of 300,000 New Shares to be Sold at 50 Cents to Present Holders

Dunwell Mines shareholders at their special meeting here late yesterday voted to increase the capitalization of the company from 700,000 to 1,000,000 shares of $1 each. Of the new stock 140,000 shares will be offered at 50 cents a share to present shareholders in the ratio of one share of new to each five shares of old stock held. The $70,000 raised is to be used to complete development work at the mine before shipping is undertaken.

Robert Stewart, president, who presided, said that a year's supply of ore had now been blocked out and that the mill would be ready to operate by December.

C. S. Whiting raised the question of the disposition of the 160,000 shares to be left in the treasury. The directors gave assurance that shareholders would be given first chance at these shares.

A. B. Cotton, one of the heavy shareholders, addressed the meeting, pointing out that the directors had said that when the last money was raised it would be enough to see the mine through. A. Sanders, director, replied, explaining that such an assurance had not been definitely given, but that the figure was based solely on what had been most conservatively estimated at the time as necessary to be done.

SUGAR

New York, Sept. 24.—Raw sugar prices were unchanged to-day at 4.53 for Cuban, duty paid. No sales were reported. Withdrawal demand for refined sugar again was in fair proportion and more new business was reported. Prices were unchanged at 5.80 to 5.90 for fine granulated.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Sept. 24.—Weather conditions on the prairies influenced grain prices here to-day, but the forecast for Saskatchewan and Alberta was more hopeful and prices slumped, ranging 1½ to 2 cents lower at the close. An easier tone prevailed throughout the day, a light trade passing, and the buyers of the past few days were sellers to-day and taking profits, the offerings going into other local hands. Some spreading trade was reported, but export business continues almost nil. The drop in values was entirely due to the weather reports and forecasts. Further snow flurries were predicted for Manitoba, but Saskatchewan and Alberta were booked for fairer skies and not so cold. Closing prices: October, 138¼; November 137⅝; December 134¼; May 138⅝.

Good trade was reported in oats at slightly lower values, but other coarse grain and flax were neglected.

The cash market showed little change. The light offerings of contract cash wheat were picked up by milling and shipping interests.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Sept. 24 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat—With the forecast promising more settled weather conditions in Western Canada, the market displayed an easier tone to-day, finally closing on the bottom and showing a loss of about two cents in the two nearby months and 1½ in the deferred. Trade volume was not large to-day, but there was liquidation long wheat. There was some hedging by elevators, but this business was lighter than it has been the past few days, while the pool were credited with selling a little May wheat on the hard spots.

There was no evidence of export business, exporters stating they had received no acceptances overnight and no bids appeared in the market even on the break. There were again reports of reselling. The ocean tonnage situation which is curtailing business shows no improvement, and the coal strike settlement appears to be as far off as ever. Heavy rains were received in Manitoba, and no threshing will be possible for a week.

Winnipeg, Sept. 24 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Pit Wire)—Market showed an easier tone due mainly to the absence of any aggressive support. Trade was confined to locals almost entirely with no indication of any activity of seaboard houses. Houses with continental connections were moderate buyers on the scale down. There was a rally at mid-session on professional short covering induced by heavy local snowstorm. This was not maintained, market closing close to the low prices.

The American markets were inclined to drag in spite of an early strength in corn which was prompted by forecast for frost in the corn belt. Country marketings yesterday were surprisingly heavy in view of the weather and there were 2,300 cars of wheat loaded at country points.

POLITICAL OUTLOOK GOOD FOR BUSINESS NOW, SAYS BANK

Montreal, Sept. 23.—Whatever the adverse influence of a political campaign upon business—and that which ended on September 14 was inconsiderable—it has ceased to be, says the monthly business summary of the Bank of Montreal.

"The incoming Government has secured a majority sufficient for its purpose—one giving reasonable assurance of stability during the ordinary term of office and a factor favoring continued improvement of trade."

Speaking of crop conditions, the summary says:

Garnering the harvest is the work of the moment and as a whole the harvest at a conservative estimate is well up to the average.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 24 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Wheat: Moved into lower ground throughout, rallying frequently from dips but failed to maintain the flurries. Easier cables from Liverpool, slow export demand and some betterment in weather conditions over the Canadian west were the depressing factors. The market proved stubborn on the weak spots throughout but gave way in sympathy with decline in corn in the final minutes. Reports of snow in Manitoba came late in the day and acted as steadying influence.

The North American clearances for the week totalled 9,559,000 bus. compared with 9,804,282 last week and 5,425,000 bus. last year. Minneapolis stocks for the week increased 1,175,000 bus. Marketings of wheat in Canada remain large but reports from Winnipeg said that grain was not pressing for sale. Milling demand for wheat here was fairly good with the off grades showing firmness, basis steady to one cent higher. The wheat market manifests a steady undertone, while the trend may be erratic for a while, continue to favor buying side, on setbacks.

Chicago, Sept. 24 (By B. C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire).—Wheat prices averaged lower, due to better weather conditions in the Canadian Northwest, prices declining aroudn 1½c from yesterday's finish. The northwest was a seller at times, and there was only fair support until December got around 1.33, where there was buying on resting orders and by holders of bids.

The news generally was of a bearish character with a lack of export demand, in addition to the better weather conditions both sides of the international line.

Premier Examines Toric; Deal Denied

Stewart, Sept. 23.—Wm. Reynolds, well-known old-timer of Stewart and Alice Arm, has arrived from the latter camp and says there is a belief there that the Premier Gold Mining Company are about to take over the development of the Toric mine. Bert H. Smith, superintendent of the Premier, recently examined the Toric, and on his suggestion some shots were put in which resulted in disclosing the richest ore ever discovered in that property. Mr. Smith took 900 pounds of this ore out with him.

Mr. Reynolds says he was familiar with the Dolly Varden mine in its palmiest days, and that no ore ever found on that famous property could excel that discovered in the Toric, in the quantity of native silver contained.

Vancouver, Sept. 23.—George N. Joy, secretary of the Consolidated Homestake Mining & Development Co. Ltd. operators of the Toric mine, on reading an Alice Arm dispatch in The Sun to the effect that the Toric had been sampled by a Premier engineer, Mr. Smith, and that A. C. H. Gerhardi, manager, had gone to England, presumably to discuss a proposed deal between the Premier and his own company, gave the following statement:

"It is true that some of the Premier company's engineers made a superficial examination of our mine, as they got permission from our general manager, Mr. Gerhardi. However, they did not sample it, but merely wanted to see what a good mine looks like. The company has not the slightest intention of selling their property to the Premier people or anyone else, and Mr. Gerhardi's present trip to England has no connection whatever with any contemplated sale."

New York, Sept. 24.—Mr. Bliss of Housman-Gwathemey says that it looks as if the market were in a condition of having been oversold, temporarily at least.

"Admitting the liquidation, profit-taking and short selling, it now appears that most of the selling for long account has been pretty well completed," he adds. "We do not mean to infer that the market is at a point where all stocks should be bought, but those that have merit should not be overlooked."

"Inman!" exclaimed Tod. "You must have seen, Steve, how queer he was, how, you know—furtive, and that sort of thing. Sly, uncommunicative, until he concluded to say something, then his words came out in a perfect sluice."

"Not much of a pyschologist, are you, Tod?" and Truitt smiled at him.

"Oh, get out. I know what I know. I know the things rests between Bunny and Inman. I know—you know, Bunny didn't do it, therefore, and wherefore, it was Inman."

"Going to take me over to the club to-night, Tod?"

And as Toddy agreed, the whole subject was dropped by common consent, and one of Mrs. Prentiss' justly famed dinners was enjoyed with no accompanying talk of horrors.

But after dinner, Cunningham telephoned that they were to come over to Sam Anderson's house instead of to the club, as he had invited a few chums there for billiards, and didn't want to go out.

So over they went, Truitt admiring as they walked briskly along, the bridge, the brook it crossed and the delightful, though different landescape on either side.

Sam Anderson was polite, even cordial, but it was plain to be seen that, as he was expecting guests, he must want them to make their visit brief.

Cunningham was the embarrassed one, for he had brought about this interview with no reason but a hope and it might be helpful to himself, and it was a little dificult to explain.

"I—I wanted you to meet Mr. Truitt," he began a little lamely, but Tod Buck threw himself into the breach.

"It's all right, Mr. Anderson," he smiled; "we won't stay but a few minutes. I know you've got a party on. But to come down to brass tacks, I'm told that you Park people suspect Miss Moore of the Heath crime, and I'm asking you if you have any real, any definite evidence against her. And, if you haven't, if you wont—you, Mr. Anderson, as one of the most influential Park men—if you won't do what you can to squash that rumor—or suspicion, or whatever you call it."

"My dear boy," Sam Anderson smiled at him, "you're barking up the wrong tree I haven't the slightest suspicion that Miss Moore did or could commit that terrible crime! Why, the mere idea is inconceivable. And I've said so every time I have been where the thing was discussed."

"Good for you, Mr. Anderson!" and Tod wrung his hand. "I suppose not all the Park people think alike, then.'

"Whom do you suspect, Mr. Anderson" Truitt asked, feeling that the time might be short, and he must learn all he could quickly.

"Why, I'm not sure I ought to voice a suspicion, and yet, if it's to help save the name and fame of a fair lady—of a young girl, I suppose I need not hesitate. I am quite willing to put it on record that such evidence as has been rehearsed in my hearing, leads me to think that the criminal was Mr. Inman. I may be wrong, I can only say he seems to me the most likely suspect, as far as I can see."

"You don't think, then," Truitt went on, "it could have been the injured husband? You don't think Perry Heath did it?"

"How did he make a getaway afterward? I understand the house was locked up like a bank."

Anderson seemed willing to talk, at least, until his guests arrived, so Truitt kept him at it.

"Yes, I hear it was. But why would Mr. Innman kill the woman he loved?"

"Do you remember a line of a famous poem, Mr. Truitt? It runs:

"'For each man kills the thing he loves.'

Not entirely true, of course, but a man might do that from jealousy, or unrequited love. And, too. Mr. Inman is the heir. Oh, I don't know, of course, but he seems to me a far more likely suspect that Heath. I've heard the Heaths were married for several years, and though as a bachelor such things are outside of my line, I don't think the average man is jealous enough to murder his wife after they have lived together as long as that."

"That's so," Truitt agreed, and then Sam Anderson's guests began to arrive and the callers left.

From Tod, from Bunny, from Mrs. Prentiss, and even calling in one or two of the servants, it seemed Steve Truitt would never cease his endless firing of queries.

On all sorts of subjects, seemingly with all sorts of objects, but all more or less connected with the Heaths or with other of the Harbor people.

At last, he went of by himself and smoked a cigar in silence and solitude.

He returned, smiling and debonair. And made himself so entertaining and agreeable, that he seemed no more a prosaic detective, but a gay and jolly chum of Tod's.

But after Mrs. Prentiss and Bunny had gone to bed. Truitte turned to Tod with a serious face.

"Old man," he said, "that woman was killed by either her husband or her cousin."

"Right, oh, oracle! I'm glad you see it that way."

"Heath, you know, is still in the neighborhood."

"Was last night."

"Is still. And to-night, my laddie, he will visit the house next door."

"Important, if true."

"Yes, that's just it. Maybe he won't. But I think—I strongly believe he will."

"Do you happen to know what he will come for?"

"I do. He will come to get a book out of the—is there a library?"

"No, books are in the studio."

"All right, then. He'll come to get a book out of the studio. Shall we conceal ourselves behind the arras, and nab him when he arrives?"

"Oh, puddinghead! Stay at home, then. I'll go alone, or better yet, I'll get your aunt to go with me. I must have a witness."

"Of course I'll go. If I fall asleep, you can punch me when he comes."

Admitting to himself, but not to Tod, that it might be a wild goose chase, Truitt led the way and followed by his friend, went silently across the lawns to the Heath house.

"Sit there," he whispered, pointing to a lawn settee, "and don't move till I tell you."

Todd did so, and ten minutes later, Truitt came to him and jogged his elbow. "All set," he whispered.

To Tod's amazement, one of the French windows in the studio was open.

"How'd you do that?" he exclaimed, but Steve only said, "Hush!" and pushed him inside.

CHAPTER XLV

Once in, and adjured to silence, Tod merely watched while Truitt noiselessly closed and locked the French window, and then stationed Tod behind a good-sized screen that was across a corner of the studio. He gave him a fairly comfortable chair, though not a large one, and then he ruthlessly cut an eyehole in the screen at the right height for Tod's eye while he was seated in the chair.

Nodding in satisfaction, Steve whispered his purpose, as Truitt hoped.

"No matter what happens, don't make a move until I do," and then, afraid lest he might not be implicitly obeyed, he added, solemnly, "Bunny's life may depend on your absolute silence."

This stretched the long bow a little, but it served his purpose, as Truitt hoped it would.

Then he took up his own position, which was inside the folds of a long drapery curtain that hung over a little used window. In this he also cut a small peephole, and the vigil began.

Truitt had dared a low light to make these preparations, but he had turned that off and they were now in total darkness. His greatest fear was that Tod would fall asleep, but he banked his hopes on the word he had passed about Bunny, and trusted that the hint would keep the boy awake.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Jack's Legs

Copyright, 1926, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis).

Hopping one day through a part of the woods where he had not been looking for adventures in a long time, Uncle Wiggily happened to remember that his wife had told him to go to the six and seven cent store to get some lead pencils.

"Are you going to have them boiled or fried?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Neither," answered his wife. "You shouldn't be trying to make jokes all the while. I want the lead pencils for our little rabbit children to use in writing out their lessons for the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School."

'Hurray!' he cried, kicking out.

"Oh, I'm glad you told me!" said Uncle Wiggily, and he hopped away, fully intending to get the lead pencils at the store. But he forgot all about them until he reached this part of the woods.

It was quite dark beneath the trees, so dark and black, in fact, that it made the rabbit gentleman think of black lead and this, naturally, caused him to remember the pencils.

"I'll hop to the store and get them before I have another spell of forgetfulness," said the bunny to himself. "Then I'll come back here and perhaps I shall find an advanture."

As Uncle Wiggily hopped away he heard a voice calling:

"Help! Help! Help!"

"Ha! Now I am sure I shall find an adventure here in the deep, dark woods," said Mr. Longears. "Some one needs help! That always means an adventure!" So he called aloud:

"Have no fear! I shall soon be back to help you."

"All right," answered a sad and sorrowful voice. "But please be as quick as you can, for I have lost my legs!"

"Oh, I just know this is going to be a most wonderful adventure!" exclaimed the bunny uncle, and he hopped double quick to the store where he bought many lead pencils, for he had forty-leven little bunny boys and girls who went to the Hollow Stump School.

With his pockets filled with lead pencils, Uncle Wiggily hopped back to the deep dark place in the woods and said:

Now I am ready to help. Who are you and what is the matter?"

"I am Jumping Jack and I have lost my legs," was the answer, and, seated on a flat stump, the rabbit gentleman saw a Jumping Jack toy with no legs. Jack had a wooden head, body and arms, but no legs.

"What became of your legs?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, I wanted to be smart and show my brother, Jim, how far I could jump—much farther than he," sighed Jack. "So, I jumped and jumped until I wore my legs off, and now I have none! Can you help me?"

At first Uncle Wiggily did not think he could, but he happened to remember that Jack' slegs were made of wood as were the lead pencils he had in his pockets, so the bunny said:

"If you do not mind a pair of legs with centres of black lead, I can fix you up."

"Please fix me up, then," begged Jack, and in a trice, which is a very short time, Uncle Wiggily had fastened two of his extra lead pencils on Jack's body and the wooden man had legs as good as before.

"Hurray!" he cried, kicking out with them. "Now I can jump back home to my brother Jim," and away he started.

But he had not gone far before, all at once, out of the bushes came slinking the sly weasel, who was starting to whiten his coat of fur as he always does in Winter.

"Gurra! Gurra!" said the sly Weasel. "I think I will go me up and nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears!" and away the sly chap started.

"You'll do nothing of the sort!" cried Jumping Jack. With that he began to kick out with the new legs the bunny gentleman had made for him. The Jack kicked the Weasel and as the pencil legs had black lead inside them, they began making black marks on the white coat of the sly chap.

"Oh, you're marking me all up!" squealed the Weasel. "You're making my nice new Winter coat all black!"

"Then don't try to nibble my friend Uncle Wiggily!" said Jumping Jack, and the Weasel didn't. Afraid of having his white fur soiled, the bad chap crept back to his den.

As for Jack, he jumped and jumped on his new lead pencil legs until he was safe home once more. And he thanked the bunny very much.

So if the rubber plant doesn't stretch its neck out of the window to see if it's raining and tickle the door knob, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jim's arms.

Would You Throw Aside a Telegram, or Registered Letter, as "Probably Not Worth Opening?"

Can't you imagine some want ads being really worth more to you than any telegram or registered letter you have received in a year—or that you are apt to receive in the year to come?

Are you not able to imagine how some want ad of four or five lines of type may—if investigated and followed up—influence the whole trend of your life? Some opportunity—for work, for buying or selling, or for investment—may have such far-reaching results for you as to shape and direct your comings and goings, your profits and losses for long years.

Is it not DEEPLY WORTH WHILE TO WATCH FOR SUCH AN AD?

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1926

Again good and evil planetary influences contend, according to astrology. This is a day unpropitious for many human interests.

Under this sway executives and all persons in authority should benefit. This is a day for pushing big projects and for planning new enterprises.

While this configuration prevails the mind may be the prey to many destructive or paralyzing thoughts, and for this reason it is well to cultivate an optimistic point of view.

There may be rumors and news reports that serve to spread alarm regarding international affairs, but the seers declare that there is no cause for the United States to borrow trouble.

All the planetary signs presage for this country the most remarkable prosperity and for the nation added prestige.

This is a day of promise for all who seek employment, and the reading of the stars indicates that there will be much work to do.

Farmers may find this rather a discouraging day, in asmuch as they may meet economic problems not easily solved, but they are to profit from unexpected conditions, it is prophesied.

Food is to become a matter of world interest and famine may again stalk in certain parts of the earth, especially in China.

The birthrate should rise in the next few months and occultists remind us that a new race of extraordinary beauty and intelligence is developing.

The seers prophesy that at a time not far distant the white race is to recognize the fact that it has not yet attained civilization, and that it has continued many barbaric customs.

China and Japan are soon to present new problems to the United States, which will consider some important commercial question. It is forecast.

People of moderate means are to be strongly tempted to speculate, it is predicted, and they should be careful to avoid all foolish ventures.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a troublesome year, but they should beware of disputes and safeguard all their interests.

Children born on this day may be quiet-tempered and fond of routine. Many military men are born under this sign of Libra.

Washington, D.C., Sept. 24.—Flowers—at least Magnolia—cannot be kept awake by means of artificial light, investigators of the United States Department of Agriculture have found in motion picture tests. Using an automatic time lapse camera to record the growing stages of the flower, the investigators were treated to an unexpected sight when the Magnolia, set in a room flooded with electric light closed its petals when natural darkness arrived, to open again only with the arrival of daylight.

DOUGHERTY URGES BETTER TRAINING FOR ALL INSURANCE MEN

B.C. Superintendent Tells of Advanced Legislation to Raise Standards

Advanced legislation in all provinces of Canada governing the licensing of insurance agents along with the education of agents, both for their own protection as well as that of the public and the business, was urged before the insurance convention at the Empress Hotel by J. P. Dougherty, superintendent of insurance for British Columbia.

In his report on the question of licensing, Mr. Dougherty told how during 1926 Alberta has enacted legislation similar to that of Ontario and Saskatchewan, while B.C. last year re-enacted its existing legislation with certain improvements.

"The portion of the new consolidated Insurance Act of British Columbia relating to the licensing of agents provides for two classes of licenses: Life only or life and accident, where it is written in the same policy, and fire and miscellaneous classes of insurance," Mr. Dougherty said. "The license year ends on December 31. The Insurance Agents' Licensing Act was originally passed in the year 1922 and became operative on January 1, 1923. One trouble which we have found in the operation of the act was the failure of the companies to co-operate with the department in the selection of their agents, and, while the act specified that an agent must write the equivalent in premiums of uncontrolled business to that of controlled the companies were always prepared to take a chance in obtaining at least the first year's premiums from such agencies. I would quote from the paper which I read at the conference held in 1923 at Winnipeg as follows:

"'Unfortunately it would seem that in their anxiety for business some companies are willing to appoint men as their representatives who have little or no knowledge of the business and care nothing at all for the character of either the physical or moral hazard so long as they can obtain the premium.'

"In the old act it was practically impossible for the superintendent to refuse to issue a license, otherwise the applicant was enabled to appeal to a county court judge against his decision, but in the consolidated act of 1925, section 186 (2) was enacted as follows:

"'Where the superintendent refuses to issue a license, he may and, on the written request of the applicant, shall refer the application to an advisory board of three persons, of whom there shall be nominated one by such association of licensed insurers as the superintendent designates, one by such association of insurance agents as the superintendent designates and one by the superintendent. Without delay the board shall investigate the application and shall hear the applicant, if he so requests, either in person or by counsel, and shall in writing report to the superintendent whether in its opinion the license should be granted or refused, stating such reasons and making such recommendations as it thinks advisable. The superintendent shall be bound by the opinion so reported, and shall grant or refuse the license accordingly, and shall promptly notify the applicant thereof, and there shall be no appeal from the refusal of the superintendent to grant the license after an opinion is so reported.'

HONEST MAN PROTECTED

"As a protection to the legitimate agent, sub-section (1) of section 186 of the act provides:

"'Upon receipt of the application and payment of the prescribed fee, and upon the superintendent being satisfied that the applicant, if an individual, is a bona-fide resident of the Province, or, if a partnership or corporation, that the members of the partnership or officers of the corporation to whom the license is to extend are bona-fide residents of the Province, and that the applicant, or the members of the partnership, or officers of the corporation, as the case may be, appear from the information contained in or accompanying the application to be suitable persons to carry on the business of insurance agents, and that the applicant intends to hold himself out and carry on business in good faith as an insurance agent, and, in the case of an application for a second or subsequent license, that the applicant has during the period of his last license held himself out and carried on business in good faith as an insurance agent and according to the usual and proper practice of the business of insurance, and has during such period negotiated for and obtained not less than twelve applications for insurance of the class for which he was licensed and for which policies were issued, the superintendent shall, subject to sub-section (2), issue to the applicant a license in the prescribed form authorizing the applicant to act as an insurance agent in accordance with the terms of the license and the provisions of this act.'

"The general principle of all the provinces is now very similar, but your committee is not persuaded that uniform legislation on this subject is yet necessary, desirable or attainable, as conditions in one province are different to that in another. Success in any such legislation lies in the administration of the act, but full success can never be secured without the co-operation of the companies and the agents. As the business of insurance becomes more and more of a profession, more and more education in the business is demanded of an agent and uniformity will be more likely to result. The following is an extract from the paper which I read before the superintendents' conference in Winnipeg in 1923: 'Classes for the education of agents along their particular lines, the same to be assisted financially by the various classes of insurance companies.'

"The life insurance companies have practiced this motto for some years, and were the other classes of insurance companies to do likewise, in time they would have a better class of agent and the business would become more of a profession than it is at the present time."
